Rental Highlights

Highlights of Finance Minister Abbott's announcement on rental regulations:

The government wants to abolish rent-controls eventually but prefers to do it on its own time and in its own way.

The government has decided to refer the question of validity of rental regulations to the supreme court.

If the regulations are declared invalid, the government will help provinces to prepare "stand-by" rental control regulations.

The government remains willing to vacate the rent-control field to any province making a formal request.

Rentals for rooms in which a tenant must share toilet facilities or other similar equipment may be increased 20 per cent.

Landlords of accommodation in which tenants share toilet facilities may terminate any lease on six months' notice.

A 20 per cent increase in rents on unheated, self-contained dwellings is permitted in exchange for a one-year lease.

Landlords may increase rents by 25 per cent on heated, self-contained dwellings provided they offer a one-year lease.

Two-year leases agreed upon by tenants and landlords may be signed without specific approval of the rentals administrator.

Landlords who owned accommodation before Nov. 1, 1949, can gain possession on six months' notice if they want the accommodation for their own use.

The new regulations become effective Dec. 15, 1949.

Calgary Oilmen Saved From Flaming Plane

CALGARY, Nov. 4.—(CP)—Eight persons miraculously escaped death today when a Lockheed Lodestar aircraft ground-looped, crashed and burst into flames at Calgary municipal airport after a tire blew out during a take-off.

Two airmen received burns to the hands in fighting the fire which almost totally destroyed the craft and the personal luggage of passengers.

The party was taking off for Chicago to attend the American petroleum meeting which begins Monday. Aboard the plane were:

Jack Bowman, Winnipeg, pilot.

Al Smeed, Victoria, B.C., co-pilot.

John G. Meberry, Calgary, general manager of Pacific Petroleums Ltd., and Canadian manager of Sunray Oil Co.

Mrs. J. O. Maberry.

Carl Nickle, oil editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mrs. Carl Nickle.

Harry Bass Jr., Calgary and formerly of Dallas, Texas, manager of Camrex Drilling Co.

ESCAPE THROUGH FIRE

The plane, recently purchased from T.C.A., was delivered here Thursday for Pacific Petroleums by Pilot Bowman who flew it from Winnipeg. This morning's flight was to have been its first for the company.

Bowman said the plane was taking off on a north-south runway and had attained a speed of approximately 75 miles an hour when a tire blew out. He tried to hold the aircraft to a straight course but it skidded sideways for several hundred yards.

A wing-tip of the craft struck the field just to the east of the intersection of runways. The plane immediately burst into flame on the left wing. (Lodestars' gas tanks are in the wings).

Passengers made their escape through the door on the same side as the fire broke out. In a few moments the entire front of the craft was a mass of flames.

One Voter Is Witness

Only one of Edmonton's 86,839 listed voters turned up at civic block today to hear City Clerk George Docherty make the official declaration of election returns and swear in Sid Parsons as mayor for 1950 and 1951.

He is John Srigley, 11208.71 street.

Frank Armour Ford, Rupert M. Clare, and Kenneth L. Lawson were elected as aldermen for the next two years, and Edwin I. Clarke Jr. elected for one-year to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Sidney Parsons. William Hawrelak and H. E. Tanner, south side aldermen, were also sworn in to two-year terms.

Declaration of election by acclamation of four Public School Board members followed. Given two-year terms were Mary B. Butterworth and John H. Thorogood, South Side representatives, and Dr. George H. Brown and John W. K. Shortreed.

Ending the ceremony was a declaration of election by acclamation for two years to the Separate School Board by L. T. Taylor, South Side representative, J. A. Gallant, Dr. A. J. O'Neill and J. O. Plion.

2 Children Die in Fire At Bentley

Parents at Carnival Only 200 Yards From Blaze Scene

Special to The Bulletin

BENTLEY, Nov. 4.—Two children died when fire destroyed dwelling here this morning.

The children were Ray, eight, and Katherine, six, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cox.

Sharon Cox, five, was saved and and Garry Helm, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Helm, fled the flames to safety.

CHILDREN ALONE

The children were alone in the home, while parents of both families attended a carnival being held about 200 yards from the dwelling.

Mr. Helm rushed to the house when the fire was noticed and managed to save Sharon Cox before being overcome by smoke.

Cause of the fire is not known. It occurred at 12:15 a.m.

Mr. George Hayworth is conferring with the chief coroner regarding an inquest.

Bentley is 24 miles west of Lacombe.

GIRL NEAR DOOR

Sharon Cox was found just inside the door leading into the dwelling. Efforts were made to save the other youngsters, but volunteers were driven back by smoke and flames.

Fire is believed to have started in one of the bedrooms. The children were in an opposite bedroom.

The Bentley fire department responded to the alarm sounded after the Helm child can crying down the street, but the building was too far gone to be saved.

NEW OIL FIELD LIKELY

OIL SMOKE at Imperial Excelsior No. 1 wildcat near Bon Accord, about 23 miles north of Edmonton, yesterday bolstered likelihood of a new oil field in the area. Company reports are cautious but it is known oil was recovered on a test.

4 Rinks Still Undefeated

Four rinks continue undefeated in round-robin play in the Associated Canadian Travellers' carspiel after games played at the Gardens this morning.

Skips Leo Johnson, Winnipeg, and Art Simpson, Calgary, racked up their third straight triumphs in Section A. Johnson knocked off Bill Gray of the Granite, 9-5. It was Gray's third straight defeat in round-robin play. Simpson whipped Ole Olson, Edmonton, 10-8, for the latter's first set back.

SECTION B

"Frenchy" D'Amour, Trail, 1948 Canadian champion, and Jack LeBeau, shipping a rink representing University of Alberta, had edged to the top with three victories in as many starts.

D'Amour turned back Larry Hodgins, Edmonton, 9-7, and LeBeau scored a whisker-close 11-10 win at the expense of Verl Mowbray, another local skip.

Other games this morning saw Walt Polski prevail over Ken Barling, 11-10, in a Section A encounter, and Garnet Campbell, Avonlea, squeeze by Franklin, Rosetown, 6-5 in an all-Saskatchewan engagement.

Banana Belt Weather Still Warms Edmonton

Golf clubs and garden implements got an unseasonal airing yesterday as Edmonton basked in weather imported direct from Hollywood.

For the third day out of the last four, the temperature soared to an all-time record. Yesterday's mercury-mark was 68, two degrees above the previous record temperature for the day set back in 1890.

The explanation for the unseasonal warm spell, the weathermat says, is a flood of warm Pacific air which has been moving in from the coast of California.

STAYS OVER WEEKEND

He expects it to continue over the weekend, though temperatures may be somewhat lower, hovering around the 60's. Normal temperature for this season is about 40.

Old Man Winter seems to have been given a sort of technical KO, and it is going to take a while for him to recover. Many Edmonton residents are fearing the old boy will come bouncing back with a vengeance, but it seems their fears are unfounded for a time at least.

HOTTEST HERE

Comparison with forecasts for other points across the dominion shows Edmonton and other Alberta points leading the way as the hottest spots in Canada.

Forecast temperatures for other points today and tomorrow are as follows:

Vancouver, 56, 55; Regina, 65, 60; Toronto, 40; Ottawa, 35, 40; Halifax, 50, 42.

Living-Cost Index Drops

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—(CP)—Declines in foodstuffs sent the September cost-of-living index down one-tenth of a point to 162.2, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

It was the second consecutive decline in living costs. The index dropped one-half point in August.

The September decline was registered despite increases in the cost of coal, coke and gasoline brought on by a 10-per-cent devaluation of the dollar Sept. 30.

The index is calculated on the basis that 1935-39 prices equal 100.

SOME DECLINES

Lower prices were reported for beef, lamb, pork, eggs, oranges and canned and fresh vegetables.

Butter, lard, coffee and lemons went up in price, but not enough to prevent a drop of two points to 205.0 in the food sub-index. This also was the second consecutive drop.

Caps To Start New Goaler

REGINA, Nov. 4.—A new goaler likely will be in the nets for Regina Caps when they meet Calgary Stampeders in Regina tonight. Stampeders will be playing their third road game in Saskatchewan. So far they have beaten Regina 4-3 and lost to Saskatoon 4-2.

To win tonight, Stampeders will have to get the puck behind Harry Barefoot, who has come to the Caps from Nelson, B.C.

Barefoot showed well with Fort Frances Canadians in the Western Canada finals last spring. He arrived in the Saskatchewan capital yesterday and started practising right away.

A win for Calgary tonight will boost their first-place margin to three points over Edmonton. A victory for Regina would leave them in the cellar, but only one point behind the Saskatoon Quakers.

Oil Flows To Surface At Excelsior Wildcat

Success of the Excelsior wildcat as a producing well seemed assured today as two successive drillstem tests flowed oil to the surface in a half-hour and 25 minutes respectively.

Following yesterday's test in the top of the Nisku formation, which gave a rise of 900 feet of oil, a further five feet were cored.

Drillstem test of this interval was made following sunrise this morning. Oil flowed to the surface in 30 minutes. Pipe was then pulled and revealed no sign of water.

Core bit was then run into the well and another five feet of hole cored.

Drillstem tester was immediately run back into the hole and a flow of oil came to the surface in 25 minutes.

Whether water showed in the last test is not known as drill pipe was still in the hole when reports of the test were made to Imperial's exploration office in Calgary.

Both tests made at the well this morning were of half-hour duration.

LIKE REDWATER

Gravity of the crude on preliminary examination is in the neighborhood of 35 degrees API and it odor, the Imperial report states. Indicates a "sour" crude, that is containing sulphur as at Redwater.

Reported bottom of the well last night was 5,851 feet, following with two five-foot cores having been taken out. Thickness of the oil-bearing formation so far drilled out is probably in excess of 15 feet.

Well is located 18 miles directly north of Edmonton and about six miles southwest of the Imperial Bon Accord discovery made last spring. Location is let 13-3-56-24W5. Redwater field is about 18 miles northeast of the Excelsior discovery.

Boosts Possible With New Leases

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—(CP)—The government has eased rental controls, allowing landlords to charge between 20 and 25 per cent extra on specific types of accommodation on which leases are coming up for renewal.

The boost was announced last night in the commons by Finance Minister Abbott. He said the government will test the validity of rent-control legislation before the supreme court of Canada. If the controls are ruled valid, the government will seek an extension beyond the termination date of March 31 next.

The rentals increase also permits a jump of a flat 20 per cent on rooms, flats and similar accommodation in which toilet facilities are shared.

Landlords are given more leeway in obtaining premises for their own use.

OFFER TO PROVINCES

Mr. Abbott said he will write the provinces to advise them that question of the validity of the wartime control legislation will be placed before the supreme court for a ruling. This will give them time to "stand by" with provincial legislation to take over controls if the court finds the controls invalid.

Meagwhile, any province that wants to assume control of rental regulations will be assisted by the federal government, said Mr. Abbott.

This was a reiteration of government willingness to permit the provinces to undertake rent control, announced by Mr. Abbott a year ago.

PROVINCIAL STUDY

Most provincial governments apparently were making a careful study of the rent control changes before announcing their reaction to them. Premiers E. C. Manning of Alberta and Byron Johnson of British Columbia declined to comment, while Premier Forst of Ontario and several other premiers were not immediately available for their reaction.

Welfare Minister J. H. Sturdy of Saskatchewan was the first provincial cabinet minister to comment. He said Saskatchewan hopes "the federal government will retain rent controls. If they vacate the field through a Supreme Court ruling, then we will be prepared to enter the field."

Early Start On Projects

Work on all projects approved Wednesday by ratepayers will be pressed as fast as possible, having regard for weather conditions, necessary supplies, and efficient manpower available, Mayor-elect Sid Parsons said today.

'People have approved all nine proposals, and I think they expect to have them carried out. But we certainly are not going to lay concrete paving or do things like that in 40 below zero weather.

"Certain works projects cannot be carried out under some weather conditions, and these will await favorable conditions," said Mr. Parsons.

Ainlay Sees Wild Spree Over Rents

About 13,812 tenants and their families in Edmonton are affected by the Ottawa order enabling rents to be increased Dec. 15 by 20 and 25 per cent, civic officials said today.

They include about 7,310 single family dwellings not owner-occupied and suites in about 350 apartment blocks. About 38,773 homes in the city are owner-occupied.

In addition an unestimated number sharing accommodation in rooms and flats will be affected.

Harry Ainlay, who retired today as mayor, condemned the new rental order. "Edmonton's rental situation is liable to run wild to the detriment of permanent residents," said Mr. Ainlay.

UNLIKE OTHER CITIES

"Many persons flocking to the city are receiving high wages and living bonuses from their construction. Those who can least afford the increase will be hard pressed to retain even the accommodation they have.

"Other centres where, unlike in Edmonton, the population is static, don't run this danger."

The government's "drastic move" surprised Mr. Ainlay. "Because the governments have not approached the housing problem realistically but have offered palliatives to the situations we have wasted five years," he said.

COUNCIL TO STUDY IT

Effect in Edmonton of the rental order will be studied by Mayor-elect Sid Parsons and council, he said.

Any action by the city of Edmonton, either as a protest to the federal government over the general high rental problem or through study of individual cases of hardship resulting from the rent boost would be "entirely in the hands of the city council," Mayor Parsons said.

MANNING MUM

Prospective boosts of rents is "entirely a Dominion matter", Premier Manning said today.

Livestock Sales Create Record

CALGARY, Nov. 4.—(CP)—October livestock sales in the Alberta stockyards here were the highest in the 46-year history of the yards, officials reported yesterday. During the 31 day period, $5,835,904 worth livestock was handled.

The record take was composed of 40,885 head of cattle and calves, 7,060 hogs and 1,030 sheep.

Biggest week in the history of the yards was recorded during the last week of October, when every available pen, diamond and loading chute was requisitioned to handle the flood of cattle.

Officials were surprised at the light run this week, but expected another heavy run would start when the mild weather spell ended.

Federal Subsidies Are Asked In Arts

More Ottawa Responsibility For Education Is Urged In Regina

REGINA, Nov. 4.—(CP)—The royal commission on arts, letters and sciences today had before it a suggestion the government should subsidize national organizations and provide scholarships as a means of developing Canadian culture.

However, a submission from the Saskatchewan arts board said, cultural experience must be created in each community by those living there.

"We make a disastrous mistake if we imagine that turning a radio button or watching a touring drama group is any substitute for singing in a glee club or putting on a play," the brief said.

The submission made by Dr. Steward Basterfield, dean of Regina College, urged more generous support through government grants for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the National Film Board.

Provincial Archivist L. H. Thomas told the Commission there is need for more adequate facilities for the public archives of Canada.

G. Eamer, general secretary, presented a brief by the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation which urged federal aid for education. It said Canada's central authority must assume responsibility for proper education.

Stolen Truck Driven Wildly

Police are seeking two young hoodlums who last night stole a light delivery truck from a service station and took it on a brief but wild ride through city streets.

The youths stole the car from CN service station, 10365-97 street. The pair roared out of the service station down to Jasper avenue. Heading east on Jasper they struck an auto owned by Martin Bernstein, 11403-100 avenue.

With Bernstein in persuit, the truck continued its wild ride down Jasper. Turning on to 106 avenue, the youths crashed the truck into the boulevard and abandoned it.

Meanwhile police were converging on the scene after being notified by the service station manager, A. C. Gouchee.

The truck, owned by a local department store, was considerably damaged.

CPR Gangs Said Costly

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—(CP)—A Canadian Pacific Railway official said yesterday it would cost his company $5,500,000 a year to hire more men on section gangs.

That amount was based on section gangs consisting of a foreman and four men on main line sections and a foreman and two men on branch lines as called for in an application by Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes (TLC) to the Board of Transport Commissioners.

G. M. Curley, eastern division general manager of the CPR, said also such an order from the board would adversely affect his company's obligation to provide economic and efficient transportation.

He said the CPR had 2,470 sections in its Canadian system.

A rigid rule to employ these numbers on section gangs would strike a serious blow to efficiency.

UNION CLAIM

The union claimed that safety regulations are being violated because not enough men are employed.

Mr. Curley occupied the witness stand for more than two hours during the morning session. Cross-examination by brotherhood counsel M. A. Wright was to continue yesterday.

CPR policy in regard to the number of men in section gangs was to employ the proper number but no more than actually needed, Mr. Curley said.

He told Mr. Spence the CPR had suffered no fatal passenger accidents last year and no accidents causing injury to passengers or employes in the three years from 1946 to 1948 through inadequate track maintenance personnel.

That was the heaviest traffic period in the history of the CPR, he said.

The Canadian forestry industry as a whole supplies over six per cent of all Canadian employment.

Spree Is Seen Over Rentals

mier E. C. Manning said. He declined comment.

"Rent control may soon be a provincial matter, as it appears that the Dominion government is trying to get the problem off its hands," Mr. Manning said.

LANDLORDS COMPLAIN

A. L. Marks complained on behalf of landlords that the allowed increases were "sticks of candy aimed at soothing" property owners.

"This action to increase rents rather than to remove rental controls is unjust and self-defeating," said Mr. Marks, executive member of Edmonton Property Owners' Association and former president of Home Protective Association.

WAGE RISES TO BE ASKED

"Some labor and trade unions may use this rental increase as a further argument for higher wages," said Hon. Dr. J. L. Robinson, minister of industries and labor.

"These new regulations put rent control in a wonderful mess," said W. J. Williams, executive secretary Canadian Legion. "The news is the worst the low income worker could possibly receive."

TENANTS CRITICAL

Some tenants declined use of their names in making comment. One elderly widow said: "I live alone in a basement suite; I have no pension, no income other than what my sons can spare me. My rent has been increased the full 15 per cent allowed last year. If the landlord is to add another 20 per cent, I don't see how I can possibly pay it."

Some landlords said their expenses had increased and they would be justified in accepting the opportunity to raise rents.

Mrs. A. J. Anderson, 10131 124 street, until recently an apartment block owner said "The boost in rents seems like a good idea as some landlords are having their property ruined by careless tenants. But landlords shouldn't raise rents to where tenants can't afford to pay."

Farmers Paid Enough For Drilling On Land

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—(CP)—F. D. Shaw (SC-Red Deer) contended in the Commons last night that Alberta farmers are receiving adequate compensation for use of their land in drilling for oil.

Speaking in the debate on the 1949-50 budget, Mr. Shaw said he was replying to remarks made by J. M. Dechene (L-Athabasca) and John Decore (L-Vegreville).

Mr. Dechene had said the farmers were receiving "nothing but a smile, and not a pleasant one at that," for use of their land. Mr. Decore had said they received little compensation.

TO TREASURY

"They're both wrong," said Mr. Shaw. On all lands where the province held mineral rights, 12½ per cent of all money realized went to the provincial treasury. The money was used for the benefit of all the people of the province for better education, improved roads, expanded health services and debt reduction.

In 1947 Alberta had passed an act setting up a board of arbitration to deal with compensation for surface owners who did not also hold mineral rights.

Mr. Shaw cited several cases, one in which the farmer received $2,000 in compensation for the first year and $700 every year after that as long as the well continued to produce. He emphasized that this was for one well.

4 PER QUARTER

It was not unusual to have four wells on a quarter section of land. In one such case the farmer received $6,000 the first year with $2,000 a year thereafter.

Mr. Shaw said the wells take a small part of a farm out of production. The farmer can continue farming the remainder.

In reply to Mr. Dechene's suggestion that five per cent out of the government 12½ per cent take should go back to the farmers owning the surface, Mr. Shaw quoted from an editorial in the Calgary Albertan.

The editorial said the money should go to the province and thus to the benefit of all the people of Alberta instead of becoming pensions for a few farmers.

Province's Crops Lowest Since '37

Coarse Grains Decline As Well As Wheat Crop

Alberta's agriculture department here said today incomplete estimates of 1949 crop returns indicated the lightest wheat crop for the province since 1937 and the lightest coarse grains output since 1941.

It was a year in which the output from a potentially large acreage was severely reduced by lack of sub-soil moisture, severe drought in the early growing season and the effect of heavy frost on immature crops in September.

The department said farmers planted approximately one and a quarter million more acres of wheat this year than in 1948, as they took advantage of an early season favoring wheat seeding and the final year of the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement guaranteeing two dollars per bushel.

However, while they planted more wheat the expected higher output was destroyed by the elements with the average yield per acre estimated at 5.7 bushels less than last year and 4.3 bushels less than the long time average.

This year's yield was estimated at 12.7 bushels per acre, compared to 18.4 last year and 17 for the long time average.

OTHERS DOWN

The department said the oat and barley crops were decreased by 137 thousand and 108 thousand acres, respectively.

Estimates were 24.4 bushels to the acre for oats, compared to 31.4 last year and 32 over the long-time period.

Barley output was estimated at 18.9 bushels to the acre, compared to 24.7 last year and 24.5 for the long-time average.

Production of flax decreased from 236 thousand acres last year to an estimated 37 thousand this year.

Rye crops, both spring and winter, also declined about 50 per cent.

Estimated rye output was 9.5 bushels to the acre, compared to 16.2 last year and 12.4 over the long-time period.

ALL FINISHED

Flax was placed at 8.4 bushels, compared to 12.2 last year and the long-time average of eight.

Cutting is now complete in Alberta with little grain remaining unthreshed.

The department added that fodder now appears in fair supply but some shortage of feed grains is indicated.

Higher grain prices may result in curtailment of cattle finishing this winter.

City Dancers Defended By Edmontonians

By JOHN McLEAN
Bulletin Staff Reporter

There's an airman out at Northwest Air Command here who might just as well rhumba back where he came from.

The airman, George E. Ley, in a letter to The Bulletin yesterday, took exception to the way Edmonton girls dance.

Said airman Ley, in describing a recent dance partner: "Her shoulders were bobbing up and down like a see-saw, with her head in the centre."

Now, those are pretty strong words.

Such accusations should not go unanswered.

So we toddled out on Jasper avenue and put it up to the populace: Are Edmonton girls poor dancers?

Although two girls (we repeat, GIRLS) were in agreement with airman Ley, three young men and one young lady disagreed. Edmonton girls are very good dancers, said they.

Another thing bothers airman Ley.

He says he met "a charming little bit of a thing" at a dance recently, "and I enjoyed dancing with her, except that she insited upon looking across my left shoulder instead of my right."

That WOULD unnerve a fellow.

But DO Edmonton girls have this annoying habit of looking over wrong shoulders?

SHE SAYS NO

Dark-haired Terry Thibault says no.

"I look over right shoulders," says Terry.

And LAC Ken Morrison, RCAF, Grande Prairie, has this to say: "Not with me they don't. They don't bounce up and down either."

But then LAC Morrison is a strong fellow, capable of holding bobbing girls steady.

Orest Bilinski, a student at Varsity, says he's "not very hep on dancing," but he has some very decided ideas on the subject.

"One out of three are fair dancers," said Arest.

Then he hit upon a homely truth: "You can't tell the way a girl dances by her looks."

He hasn't noticed his dancing partners bobbing up and down, and they usually look over his right shoulder he said.

Had enough, Mr. Ley?

Edmonton Praised

An editorial in the Albertan strongly commends Edmonton for its pressing action over the Jasper route for the Trans-Canada Highway, and slates Calgary for its apathy to the Calgary route.

That article says that as far as promotional jobs are concerned Edmonton only has one peer in Western Canada, and that is Lethbridge. . . "Instead of winding up its affairs and admitting failure, the northern route association have drawn up a budget of $10,000 for the next year."

It is good news to know that Edmonton is gaining a reputation for being a "go-ahead" community. As far as the plans for the northern route are concerned, this may well be the case. Calgary may rest assured that we shall go on fighting the matter, until we can drive to the coast from here on a paved highway.

However, don't let us take the praise too literally; a few people around town may be "go ahead" alright, but we still have a long way to go to show that we are "promotionally minded."

Perhaps a few examples may suffice to remind us of this. Top of the list we can put the auditorium and swimming pools which could have been privately promoted.

From the official angle there are: dirty and dusty unpaved streets in the centre of town, hideous slums, money losing transportation system, lack of properly planned industrial area, and many more things besides.

These must be put right before we can sink into self-satisfied complacency.

The City administration cannot hold all the blame. The citizens must take their share. If these various improvements are to take place, they must get behind them and keep pushing them along.

Let us remember Calgary and the Toronto football game which did so much to put the West on the map back East. It was not promoted by the civic authorities, but by the citizens themselves.

Go to it Edmonton and show the rest what we can do.

Economic Rights Of Man

The formula used for settlement of the steel strike in the United States indicates an important political trend in this continent.

By its terms, private enterprise has acknowledged more responsibility for securing the economic rights of man.

For generations the people of this continent were accustomed to think of economic rights as owning property and enjoying its fruits. A shift in viewpoint has resulted from changed conditions — in 1850, one half of the U.S. national income came from self-employment, while today more than four out of five income producers are wage earners.

This was brought to the depression years and by the growth in wage-earning population, there has been general acceptance of a shift in the meaning of economic rights. Today it includes not only the right to property, but also the right in modern society to earn a living.

Leaders of thought in United States have stressed that the economic rights of man cannot be escaped or denied; that if business does not acknowledge and enter that field, the state must.

In Britain, the trend to welfare, the word most people use to describe the concept of man's economic rights, has resulted in the socialist, welfare state.

In the United States, industrial leaders have been warned that the idea of the welfare state grew because not enough businesses tried to implement economic rights. They have been urged by government bodies to do so.

In the prelude to the steel strike, the U.S. government urged that steel companies finance non-contributory insurance projects at an estimated cost of $200 per worker per year for health, welfare and pension plans. The steel companies insisted that employees contribute to the cost. They refused and went out on a costly strike. Under the compromise formula, the companies pay pension costs and the workers contribute to other features of welfare plans.

Acceptance of the steel formula by producing companies is both additional recognition of the new concept of man's economic rights and an attempt to forestall evolution toward a welfare state.

The principle of industry stepping into the field of man's economic rights is favored in Canada, Prime Minister St. Laurent made clear last month that he favored Canada moving not toward the welfare state, but toward welfare insurance. It is welfare insurance which the steel workers have been given by private interests rather than by the state. It is a most important settlement for the trend it shows on this continent.

Oil Change Saturday?

Edmonton is the oil capital of Canada every working day of the week except Saturday afternoons.

On those afternoons motorists can't get their oil changed because mechanics have the afternoon off.

Mechanics are entitled to time off same as office workers and store employees, but for a governing bylaw to tie-up such a simple service as having oil changed in an auto certainly is short sighted.

Even if the motorist found a 24-hour garage, he would find it open only for emergency service.

If service stations are open to sell gasoline, what is to stop the attendant from changing the oil? It is a simple service, not a mechanical operation requiring a trained mechanic.

Citizens may be acquainted with the situation and govern themselves accordingly, but it must cause a great deal of annoyance for the thousands of visitors, and it is bad advertising.

Tax Deductions For Union Dues

Apparently the labor unions are complaining because their members are not allowed to claim income tax exemption for the amount each member pays in union dues. This exemption does not amount to very much.

It would, however, provide some assistance to unions, if such an exemption were allowed, and the basic question is, therefore, why should not such an exemption be allowed?

Income tax regulations have developed over the years into a perfect maze. Yet, if you can ever boil it down to essentials, income tax is supposed to be a tax upon your net income and it is not supposed to be charged against your expenses in connection with the earning of that income.

Where a worker is forced to belong to a union in order to hold his job, his union dues are definitely an expense incurred in order to earn his income.

Cost of Operation

Is forms part of his cost of operation, and just as any business must deduct the costs of operation before it can declare a profit, the workers' wage after deducting dues, is his real profit.

However there are many cases where a business incurs expenses which are not absolutely necessary.

No one would suggest that every business must prove conclusively every expense is essential before it can be deducted on the balance sheet. Yet who can say that payment of union dues is any less reasonable an expense?

Lawyers must pay fees before they can practice. That is a permissable operating expense. It is said that lawyers who are not practicing, but are holding some salary position, need not pay these fees, and therefore cannot deduct them if they belong to the association.

Yet, can anyone say that it is not of assistance to them, in earning that salary, to belong to the Bar Association?

There is far too narrow an interpretation of deductible expenses. It has been held that a business can deduct entertainment costs, because entertainment forms part of the business of selling goods and is therefore a legitimate expense.

I wonder if an employee would be permitted to charge up entertainment against his income tax? Yet, entertainment has often been the means for securing a better job.

Some people try to improve their ability by taking special courses and as a result become able to earn better salaries. Surely that expense should be a proper tax deduction since it plays a vital part in earning the income.

Yet membership in clubs or organizations can assist in the earning of an income, and for that reason club dues are just as valid an expense as advertising.

A worker who belongs to a union may also find that membership enables him to find out about available employment. As such, it will assist him in securing employment and earning an income. Why, then, is the union membership not a legitimate expense?

Money Must Be Expended

The fact is, many people who earn wages or salaries find it necessary to spend money on a variety of things for no other reason than to assure the earning of these wages. There is no reason why these expenses should not be considered proper deductions. After all, if expenditures are made for that purpose, those amounts cannot be considered as net earnings, because, if another or a poorer-paying job were taken, it might not be necessary to make the outlay at all.

Business houses may have their own troubles in securing adequate deductions in computing net earnings but the average wage earner appears to be completely forgotten in this whole income-tax scheme. Too many proper deductions are arbitrarily denied him.

If you dress up a parcel in order to sell it, that is a business expense that can be deducted. If your type of work makes it necessary to dress yourself in a certain manner, it is completely ignored.

Clothing can be an expensive item in the business of earning a living.

Union dues and all of these other items deserve serious consideration and the failure to allow them as proper deductions is unfair to those who are affected.

Community Chest Books Are Open

Editor, Bulletin—A brief note in reply to "H. G." Oct. 24th and "Curious," Oct. 29th.

A complete certified financial statement showing the total amount collected by the Community Chest of Edmonton in the 1948 fall campaign and the actual amount allocated to each of the 27 member agencies for the calendar year, Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1948, was published in the Edmonton Journal and the Edmonton Bulletin, July 9, 1949, for the information of the citizens of Edmonton, who so generously supported the Chest appeal last year.

I should like also to point out that the records of the Community Chest are open for inspection to any Edmonton subscriber at any time and that information regarding welfare services and related financial needs is always available in this office.

Commutation Urged For Nowall

Editor, Bulletin—In the past few days we have seen two men in this city sentenced to die for the crime of murder. Both trials were similar in one respect. In that the defence of both men tried for their acquittal on the grounds of insanity, but there the similarity ended.

One was a cold-blooded murder for money, the other was a crime of passion, so far as we the public can gather from the press and committed through an argument over a small sum of money. There is a feeling generally prevailing in the minds of many people that the whole truth has not come out in the Nowall case. If the facts as they were presented to the court are complete then this man must have been at least temporarily insane at the time of the murder.

I believe that if only for the sake of his children the sentence of Nowall should be commuted to life imprisonment. Otherwise we the people of Canada must assume the responsibility of not only hanging the culprit but also of sentencing his wife and children to a fate far worse than death.

Yes, society in hanging the father must assume the blame for the terrible anguish and suffering of those little children. Can anybody possibly realize the heartbreak in that home today? Let us as Christian people write the minister of justice in the name of those children for a commutation of sentence.

In closing let me state that I am not taking the part of the lawless, and also that I realize the suffering and sorrow in the dead man's family, but in the name of mercy let us have leniency so that these kids' lives shall not be ruined by the mad act of their father.

HAROLD TAYLOR,

Editor, Bulletin—This is written as an open letter to Mayor Ainlay.

A few months ago when the Edmonton Transit tickets were raised and Edmonton people bought up tickets, you spoke of Loyalty to the City of Edmonton.

For a good number of years this same city has paid you a salary as a teacher in one of our public schools and as mayor.

Now you are retiring and moving to Brian Columbia to spend the money you earned in Edmonton. I would like to know which is the more loyal to Edmonton, the people who bought the tickets or Mayor Ainlay

FAIR PLAY.

Hallowe'en Pagan Rite

Editor, Bulletin.—A freakish mixture of pagan mythology and Catholic tradition, hatched among the Celtic natives of Britannia many centuries ago, is today known as Hallowe'en.

The Druid's religious harvest festival in honor of their god Baal, held about November 1, centred around bonfires called "beltane fires." The Encyclopedia Britannica points out that "beltane" is usually regarded as a combination of the name of the god Bel or Baal with the Celtic "teine," fire.

This is supported by the fact that in the early days the Druids sacrificed human victims in the bonfires, the same as the Baal-worshippers did in Bible lands. The custom of lighting bonfires at Hallowe'en continued until recently in Scotland and Wales.

The pagan Romans also celebrated a feast about November 1 in honor of Pomona the goddess of fruits and seeds. So when Caesar's armies moved into Britannia they grafted on to the Druidic celebration the use of apples and nuts.

Later came the Catholic priests with the idea, as stated by Cardinal Newman, that "the very instruments and appendages of demon-worship" may be transmuted to an evangelical use and are "sanctified by their adoption into the church."

Taking over the Baal practice of the Druids, the Catholic pagans called October 31 the "Feast of All Souls," and the next day the "Feast of All Saints" or Allhallows. The night before was then designated Allhallow Eve, which was contracted to Hallowe'en.

Today the old pagan belief in witches, black cats and ghosts is associated with October 31, and the ignorant and superstitious continue to observe Hallowe'en. But true Christians avoid such God-dishonoring practices and reverently pray "Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name."

Means Test Again Assailed

Editor, Bulletin—In your last night's editorial on Social Insurance you say it is nice to know that Prime Minister St. Laurent favors social insurance against bad luck and incapacities of old age.

Permit me to suggest that this knowledge does not help the old age pensioner who is pegged by the chain of the means test to a pauper's allowance of $480 per year.

It would be much nicer to know that the Prime Minister had removed the means test by supporting the CCF motion to that effect in the House of Commons last month.

You also express fear that too much security might lead to thriftlessness, which is an implication that Canadians are better off when they live in fear of adversity. This is contrary to the Atlantic Charter issued jointly by late President Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill in which one of the aims of World War No. 2 was proclaimed the abolition of fear from want.

I have read several of your editorials eloquently pointing out how the means test penalizes the thrifty and encourages dishonesty. If you still think so you should have deplored the Prime Minister's failure to abolish the means test instead of condoning his insincerity by suggesting that too much security will wreck the nation. Consistency, thou art a gem indeed, when found with editors.

Nostalgia Strong For Old England

My brother-in-law, Russell, leaves tomorrow for England. I'm a bright green with envy. I keep trying to think of good reasons why the paper should send me to England. The paper always thinks of better reasons why I should stay home.

It will be Russell's first visit there. His parents are both transplanted from England. So, of course, he's heard a great deal about the old country. He may not realize it, but much of his thinking has been conditioned by the life his parents knew over there.

Perhaps that's why he decided on this trip. He might have gone to South America, even Australia. The purely geographic pull is stronger in those directions. But he decided on England. "Going home," his mother said.

He has the usual quota of cockeyed ideas about what he will find there. Canadians who have never been to England frequenly think of the country in the form of a confusing montage involving Elton boys on the playing fields, quaint pubs, castles, hedgerows, fox hunters and the rest.

It is a two-way trans-Atlantic misconception. A great many English people still think happily of Canada as a land of snow, "the mounties," and red Indians in full war paint.

I have warned Russell not to expect to find a come-to-life version of the fine old English bunting prints that adorn the walls of his parents' home. There is much of that to be seen, it's true. But he will find the people leading every-day lives very similar to the lives we lead here. Those similarities may impress him more than the differences.

This discovery was a familiar one with Canadian servicemen (and with the odd American) after a few weeks in England. They were pleased to find themselves at home. I have heard it described as much the same feeling a migratory duck must have on its first flight north, a feeling of going back . . . going back to where it has never been.

Balanced Life Marks England

Russell is a young man. A month or two or more in England can't help but broaden his character. I think when my own kids have reached the age when they can travel, that Odyssey will be part of their education.

I find it hard to put into words, but there is a constant invitation in England to find a personal perspective to pleasant living. It links up with a lot of unsatisfactory words: maturity, serenity, detachment, tranquility.

The hands on the English clock seem less urgent. The delicate balance between ambition and peace of mind seems more easily reached.

There's an enigma here hard to wrap up neatly in words.

As Bad Cooks They're Inspired

I have given Russell the address of a small pub in Exeter where Sir Francis Drake used to drink (the same barmaid who served Sir Francis was there, I'll swear, when I dropped in). No man can set out on a contemplation over a quiet pint of ale and not come out a more thoughtful person. Not even my brother-in-law.

Of course he is going to find some unpleasant things, too, things he may not laugh about until they are a memory.

He will make the usual jokes about the cooking. There's just no getting away from it. As bad cooks they're inspired.

He will wonder, as we all did, how a nation can make the Spitfire and yet not produce the toilet that will flush without a master mechanic.

He will probably mistake the clam for the phlegmatic, the reverse for snobbery. We all did, at first.

But when he's been there awhile, and after the strangeness has worn off, he will make many a pleasant discovery. He will find, I think, that the people have a curious character both proud and humble, that they do many things they don't like because its "proper," and many things they do like because of a zest for living, that they have a wonderful tolerance if you think there about their foibles or their interminable brussels sprouts and a gimlet eye if you touch a more sensitive spot such as their present role as a world power.

He will find that the English will like him if he is prepared to like them and be will, of course, because it is in his bones.

Bon voyage, Russell, have a wonderful time!

ON THE RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

Marx Warned Against Slav Rule

Lewis Galantiere has a fascinating article in a recent issue of that admirable quarterly, "Foreign Affairs," to remind us that communism as an "ideology" is entirely subject to the peculiar type of mind that is Russian, and has changed in few fundamental particulars since the days of the Tsars.

Mr. Galantiere has unearthed four volumes of observations made by a French diplomat, the Marquis de Custine, 110 years ago.

THOMPSON

"An immense inordinate ambition of the kind which can take root only in the soul of an oppressed people and be nourished only on the misery of an entire country is now astir in the hearts of the Russians.

"The essentially aggressive nation lives in a state of submissiveness so degrading that it seems to be exisiting in advance, at home, expectations of loot from any over other men. The glory and the booty to which the Russian looks forward turn his thoughts from the shame to which he is being subjected. This kneeling slave fills his dreams with visions of world domination."

Slave Dreams Of Conquest

Custine's report also describes an almost espionage system of government conviction that all foreigners are spies, and an "iron curtain."

"In Russia to converse is to conspire; to think is to revolt. This Byzantine system must fall, and indeed all of Russia, have always looked upon the diplomatic corps and westerners as curious and unwelcome spies.

"The more I see of Russia the more I approve of the Tsar's forbidding Russians to travel abroad and making access to Russia difficult for foreigners. The Russian political system would not stand out for twenty years against communication between Russia and the west."

Other European observers of a century ago saw also a fearsome strength, despite its degradation, in the Russian system. Among these was Emil Montegut. He wrote:

"The Russian spirit consists in hatred of the individual and his absorption into the state to the advantage of despotism; for despotism, as a regime, is a prerequisite to the establishment of world dominion. Unless we stand on guard we shall witness the infallible success of a man who will appear and summon the peoples of Europe to rise in the name of equality; who will offer to the masses protection against their own unruly natures and an equal turn at the common soup ladle, in exchange for a kind of freedom useful only to a handful of men."

Russ Secretive Century Ago

Custine also recorded, a century ago, a strength of Russia versus the west, visible today:

"Our press informs the Russians of every plan and event. We go forward in the light of day. They advance under cover."

Finally, a century ago, Custine saw that the only defence lay in unifying and harmonizing the western nations:

"If harmony is established between the European peoples the greedy hopes of Slav aggressors may prove illusory."

Mr. Galantiere does not quote another voice also raised nearly a hundred years ago, but the September 1949 issue of Harper's Magazine does:

"Vital interests should render Great Britain the earnest and unyielding opponent of the Russian projects of annexation and aggrandizement. Having come thus far on the way to universal empire, is it probable that this gigantic and swollen power will pause in its career? With the Albanian coast, she is in the very centre of the Adriatic. It would appear that the natural frontier of Russia runs from Dansig or perhaps Stettin to Trieste.

"As sure as conquest follows conquest, and annexation follows annexation, so surely would the conquest of Turkey by Russia be only the prelude to the annexation of Hungary, Prussia, Galicia, the Illyrian provinces and all of the Slavonic empire. The arrest of the Russian scheme of annexation is a matter of the highest moment. In the instance the interests of democracy and of England go hand in hand."

Can you guess the author? Karl Marx, in the New York Tribune, April 12, 1853!

It is therefore nothing new with which we have to deal today. It is only the old Russia in a new look.

From Today's News

By DE WITT MACKENZIE

India's worst problem is poverty, as Prime Minister Nehru told a North American audience the other day, and I imagine that if he were questioned further he also would put illiteracy high on the list of his vast country's difficulties.

India has many centres of culture, but the great majority of her 300,000,000 souls are ignorant, and indeed many are primitives. Thus the average percentage of literacy is low.

We therefore are about to witness a development of far-reaching importance in the launching of a new program of mass education for India. Education minister Maulana Abul Kalam Azad has announced plans to draft all educated citizens for six months in a drive to reduce illiteracy.

This of course isn't a new idea, but rather is the amplification of one which has been employed on a much smaller scale in several countries, including India itself.

For example, Nigeria and some other African colonies have used the plan for mass education on a volunteer basis, and in some places it has worked well. Apart from the educational value it has developed a community spirit which has resulted in co-operative enterprises.

India herself for years past has had community centres in the cities and has drawn in some the unenfranchised have been afforded educational facilities.

The educated Indian women have played a large part in this work and have displayed a great sense of responsibility toward the lower class members of their sex.

One important innovation in recent years has been the installation of radio sets in many village centres by the government —one set to a community. After the day's work in done the villagers gather about this set and listen to a program which is both entertaining and instructive.

It would be difficult to overemphasize the educational value of this radio contact with the people, the significance of course lies in the fact that only by the spoken word can you impart information to the unfortunates who can't read the written language.

Army, Air Force Inquiry Sought

Defence Minister Overrules Drew Proposal For Probe

By Ronald A. Nickerson
BUP Correspondent

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—(BUP)—Opposition Leader George Drew today called for investigations into the army and air force similar to the one made into the navy. But Defence Minister Brooke Claxton turned him down.

In a lengthy criticism of Canada's defence policy, Drew also asked that a standing committee of the Commons be set up on defence—but Claxton again turned thumbs down.

FIASCO ALLEGED

Drew charged that the "combined army-air force exercises in the northwest last August showed the need for investigations of the two services," the operation, known as Exercise Eagle, had resulted in a "fiasco," he said.

The failure of the exercise was due to a lack of equipment in both the army and air force, he said, despite the fact that military spending was at a peacetime high.

Claxton replied that "Eagle" had been "very successful" in that it had accomplished what it had been designed to do.

There had been "no word of criticism" from the point of view of the skill, state of training and performance of the officers and men of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry, nucleus of Canada's airborne brigade, Claxton said. Neither had there been any criticism of the work of the RCAF during the exercise nor of the staffs who planned and carried it out.

TEST SUCCESSFUL

"I make those statements because they are in accordance with the facts," he said. "The exercise was designed to test only those three things and, viewed in that light, was very successful."

He denied reports that parachutes used by the PPCLI's had been patched with certain items of women's clothing or in any other way. It was true, however, that some worn parachutes had been repaired by the insertion of entire panels.

Drew said that the report of the three-man commission which had investigated the Navy had disclosed the imperative need for a Commons committee on defence.

The commission, headed by Rear-Admiral Mainguy, Atlantic Coast flag officer, had made searching criticism of sea-going officers.

Bigger Navy Said Needed

OTTAWA, Nov. 4—(CP)—A feeling among Canada's naval leaders that their commitments require a navy more than half as large again as it is today finds backing in the report of a three-man commission on the service.

"It is our opinion that the navy should be given a breathing space for essential training and the strengthening of its men and ships," said a commission which included the navy's No. 2 officer Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy. "There is a widespread feeling that the available manpower and material have been stretched too far and too thin to meet the requirements of a fighting, convoying and anti-submarine force."

RECRUITING GOES ON

The service has been told, it was learned today, to recruit beyond the present authorized manpower ceiling of 9,047 by conducting "normal recruiting" for at least two months.

No new ceiling is believed set but nothing is indicated in the nature of the 15,000 or 16,000 men high officers say they should have if they are to keep up with their requirements in absorbing new men and in keeping abreast of anti-submarine developments and training.

There has been a feeling for some time that the present force is neither a toy navy like Canada had before the war nor a real functional force. It is falling between being a school for recruits and an operational force.

CROWD CREEK

Bass Behave Like Salmon; Go to Death

LONDON, Ont. Nov 4—(CP)—Two creeks in western Ontario are having a fish run similar to the salmon runs of British Columbia.

Middlesex county game overseer Bert Smalley said today thousands of silver bass or "minnows" were crowding up the waters of Mud creek and Brown creek from Lake Huron.

At Parkhill in Mud creek Mr. Smalley said there must have been 50,000 fish.

"This is the first year I have seen anything like it," he said. "I know no reason why these fish should crowd into the streams, but it will be a good thing for the trout since the young bass will provide feed."

King's Doctor Visits Palace

LONDON, Nov. 4—(Reuters)—Sir John Weir, physician to the King, and two other doctors who have been attending His Majesty, went to Buckingham Palace yesterday.

The Press Association court correspondent said the doctors' call was a routine visit for a general checking on the King's health.

Text Book Is Defended

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—(CP)—A text book used for a number of years in Alberta schools was defended last night in the Commons by F. D. Shaw (SC, Red Deer).

Mr. Shaw, a school teacher from Innisfail, Alta., replied to remarks made earlier in the budget debate by John Decore (L, Vegreville).

Mr. Decore had read a section in the book saying "some people" believe the Capitalist system is outdated and should be replaced by other systems. The book said that three of the more interesting of these alternative systems were the Communists, Social Credit and CCF. Mr. Decore had described this as "vicious propaganda."

Mr. Shaw said the statements contained in the book were true and he could see nothing wrong with them. He was in favor of presenting all sides of an issue. That was what the book had done.

He added that Mr. Decore had failed to mention that the same book was used for years in Saskatchewan when that province had a Liberal government.

DEREHAM, Norfolk, England — (CP)—A warden and a newspaper man were the audience at a lecture here on the history of Norfolk.

Socred Says LPP Vote In Vegreville Is Fact

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—(CP)—An Alberta Social Credit member suggested in the Commons last night that the Liberal party needs a "complete political delousing" in some quarters.

F. D. Shaw (SC, Red Deer) made the suggestion while reiterating previous assertions that the Communist vote had made possible the election of John Decore, a Liberal, in the Alberta constituency of Vegreville in the June 27 election.

Mr. Decore several days ago denied what he described as the insinuations that the Communist vote elected him.

"HARD FACTS"

Speaking today in the budget debate, Mr. Shaw said he made no insinuations. He had stated "cold, blunt, hard facts."

There are 3,000 or 4,000 Communists in the Vegreville riding, Mr. Shaw said. That had been indicated by the votes polled by the Communist candidadte in 1945.

Mr. Shaw read from a circular he said was circulated by the Labor-Progressive party during the recent election campaign.

The circular contained a vicious attack on Anthony Hlynka, former member and Social Credit candidate. It urged voters to cast their ballots against Mr. Hlynka.

Demands for New Housing Down for First Time in Years

OTTAWA, Nov. 4—(CP)—More homes are being built—but fewer started—this year than last.

Completion of new homes for the first seven months of this year has broken all records, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation said yesterday in its quarterly review of housing in Canada.

But, at the same time, fewer homes were started.

The government-owned company unearthed another significant fact in the housing picture—for the first time since the end of the war the number of new families has started to drop.

This, the report said, "will tend to lessen the added pressure exerted on the housing market from this source."

For the first seven months of the year housing completions, totalling 46,126, broke all previous records. They were 26 per cent higher than in the same period of 1948.

But "starts" more closely reflected "the trend of demand" and dropped slightly after a steady increase since the end of the war. They totalled 48,900, compared with 49,5000 in 1948. The decline resulted mainly from a big drop of 17 per cent in June and July.

At the end of July, there were 52,000 homes under construction. More of the new homes were started with government assistance. They totalled 11,800 in the first half of 1949 as compared with 10,900 in the same period of 1948.

There were $83,000,000 in loans approved under the National Housing Act, for 15,300 homes, an increase of 36 per cent over 1948. Loans under the federal rental insurance plan—started in 1948 in which central mortgage and housing guarantees the owners of approved rental projects an annual return of at least two per cent on investment—were made for 90 projects, involving 4,327 dwellings. This was nearly three times as much as in the same period of 1948.

World Food Plan Is Seen As Next Step

TORONTO, Nov. 4—(CP)—H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said yesterday he was convinced the "next great step forward in human history" will be that of the world feeding itself by means of an orderly, organized, international plan.

"I believe that's the real basis for both peace and security," said Mr. Hannan in an address prepared for delivery before the Empire Club of Canada.

TELLS OF FORMATION

Mr. Hannam outlined the steps leading to formation of the federation and its growth to an organization that now includes all branches of agriculture and all provinces. It has an affiliated membership of some 400,000—more than 60 per cent of the dominion's farmer population.

"Our Canadian farmers want to put agriculture on a business basis," said Mr. Hannam.

Farmers want some assurance of stability of markets projected ahead a few years to enable them to plan their production with confidence.

"With this view, we found the farmers of all countries in complete agreement.

"This desire for systematic and stable marketing is basic in the reasoning of world farmers in recommending international commodity agreements, of which the international wheat agreement is a typical example."

PER CAPITA MARK CUT

Mr. Hannam said that although present food production surpassed that before the Second World War, an increased world population had lowered production per capita below the pre-war mark.

"Farmers believe in a policy of abundant production. They have not at any conference suggested restricting production in order to maintain profitable prices for themselves."

But he warned that Canada's farmers "remember all too vividly the tragic experiences of the past with its unwanted surpluses, and have grave fears, that without due safeguards, expanding production may bring only a repetition of past disasters."

Truman Lashes At Reactionaries

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 4—(AP)—President Truman lashed out last night at the "propaganda of the reactionaries" and predicted victory in 1950 for congressional candidates supporting his "Fair Deal" program. Speaking at the climax of "Truman Day" ceremonies of the Minnesota centennial observance, he said he was "confident that the 81st congress will accomplish a good deal more next year in its second session."

Planned Planting of Trees Helps Cool or Warm Homes

By Paul F. Ellis
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(UP)—Here's a new way to beat the summer heat and the winter cold: planned planting of trees and shrubs.

James I. E. Ilgenfritz, president of the American Association of Nurserymen, reports that such scientific planning can control climate on a good-sized lot as much as 10 to 15 degrees.

Thus, according to the expert, the home can be made cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

At the same time, he said, the home owner can save on fuel bills.

BREAK AGAINST WIND

One of the surest ways to make a house warmer, Ilgenfritz said, is the use of hedges or trees and shrubs to break the wind. He pointed out that to heat an ordinary house it takes twice as much fuel at a temperature of 32 degrees and a wind of 12 miles an hour as it does for the same temperature and a wind of three miles an hour.

He said tests have shown that the fuel requirement is little larger for the combination of 32 degrees and a 12-mile wind than it is for zero temperature and little wind.

And as for cooling the house, Ilgenfritz reports that by using one or more trees close to the dwelling the roof can be kept cool, and if the foliage of the tree shades the roof and the west wall, the temperature in the house may be reduced as much as 20 to 40 degrees.

Such planned planting, he said, eliminates the "attic furnace."

The new science-climatic control by planting—is expected to be used by more and more home builders, according to Ilgenfritz.

"A great field is opening up to co-ordinate local measurements of prevailing winds, temperatures, rainfall, sun position and other natural phenomena with plantings, which, in addition to beauty, will insure greater comfort and economy for home owners," he said.

Meanwhile, a new tree to take the place of the American elm, which is gradually disappearing because of Dutch elm disease, has been developed by the Siebenthaler nurseries, Dayton, Ohio. The new tree is a honey locust called the Moraine locust. It is thornless and seedless and does not require the biennial pruning of lower branches.

Furthermore, the new tree reaches a height of 25 to 30 feet in seven years and at maturity it reaches to 125 feet.

The leaves do not have to be raked up in the fall. Their thin and soft tissues decompose almost overnight and help to fertilize the ground, the developers say.

BOILING WATER TOSSER FINED

SCHRIEBER, Ont., Nov. 4.—(CUP)—Mrs. Rina Losier, 35, was fined $40 in court yesterday after she pleaded guilty to throwing a dish of boiling water in the faces of two boys who knocked on her door for Hallowe'en treats Monday.

She said she was frightened when she heard the knock on the door.

Federal Housing May Require Community Plan

HALIFAX, Nov. 4.—(BUP)—Reconstruction Minister Robert Winters said here yesterday federal aid for housing developments might be given only if communities had properly organized community plans.

Winters was addressing the Maritime division of the Community Planning Association of Canada. He said that community plans were an essential part of the community planning activities where there was no plan, owing to their obligations to the welfare of their citizens.

It was the responsibility of every community, he said, to know everything about the housing conditions in its area and to provide some systematic scheme for the replacement of obsolete housing and the construction of new homes.

Snow Covers Australia Areas

MELBOURNE, Nov. 4—(Reuters)—Snow covered large areas of three southern states of Australia today—with summer supposed to be just around the corner. Heavy rains swelling the rivers of Victoria brought warnings of possible floods and from Western Australia gales were reported to have caused £40,000 ($125,000) damage to vineyards.

Alberta's total cash income from farm products in the first six months of 1949 was $206,506,000.

Assaly Brothers Open New Store

Floorcraft Feature In South Side Establishment

Accentuating modernness, Assaly Bros. Floorcraft of 10948-82 avenue will open its doors to the public today.

A completely new endeavor in Western Canada, the firm will cater to the needs of the floorcraft industry as well as the individual home-owner.

Everything and anything that applies to the needs of keeping a floor in good shape, even rebuilding it is carried in stock.

Inlay, print, congoleum, asphalt, rubber and plastic surfaced linoleums are featured by the firm.

Carpets, broadlooms, rugs, as well as small mats, are carried in stock.

Firm was the dream-child of two city men, Art and Dick Assaly, who, when they couldn't find space to open the firm, built their own. The modern building on Edmonton's South Side main thoroughfare—Whyte avenue, embodies all the principles for convenient, comfortable shopping.

MODERN SETUP

Front of the store is blue-tile while the windows are set back at an angle from the sidewalk.

Inside the shop itself, bold color schemes and clever placements of fluorescent lighting gives the interior a soft glow.

Feature, and perhaps specialty of the firm, is the new and latest in blinds, the Vertical Nylon.

On display in the Home Exhibition recently, the blind shutters fit in a window up and down and turn from left to right in contrast to orthodox types.

Another convenience of the blinds is they can be easily washed with a damp cloth.

All other types of venetian blinds will also be carried.

For other needs of the householder, Pittsburgh paints and varnishes are stocked.

Floor sanding and installation of hardwood surfaces are promised expert attention by the company.

Handling the custom floor and wall be Richard while Art will contracting as well as installations tend to needs of store customers.

MOST PEOPLE are fascinated by gamblers who are honest. When rugged, handsome Clark Gable plays part of shining knight of gaming tables there's action-packed film fare in store for movie-goers. In "Any Number Can Play," opening at Empress today. Gable is gambler Sir Galahad, co-starring with lovely Canadian-born Alexis Smith. Picture fairly radiates screen talent with Frank Morgan, Mary Astor, Lewis Stone and Barry Sullivan.

Gable Returns to Screen In Dynamic Gambling Role

Not in years has Clark Gable been offered as tailor-made and dynamic a role as that of the honest gambler in "Any Number Can Play," stellar attraction starting today at the Empress theatre.

Here is a story taut, moving at lightning pace, packing a dramatic wallop in almost every sequence with Gable in the virile, two-fisted type of characterization which has kept him at the top of box-office lists ever since he has been a star.

In "Any Number Can Play" he is seen as Charley Kyng who, through gambling luck, has risen from poverty to become the owner of a spectacularly successful casino and who is now able to give his wife and college-age son, Paul, every luxury.

Willing to give a sucker an even break, and with a code of honor all his own, Charley is able to dominate everyone with whom he comes into contact.

His only failure is in his son, who despises his father's profession and cannot conceive him to be an honest man.

It takes a series of engrossingly dramatic circumstances and a thrill-packed climax before Charley can prove to his wife and son that there can be nobility and integrity even in gambling.

While Gable, in what is undoubtedly the most arresting and persuasive role of his career, wrests attention in ever scene in which he appears, there is an additional wealth of acting material in the hands of a large group of well-known film names.

Alexis Smith gives a warm and glowing touch to the role of the wife who proves her devotion when it appears as though Charley faces complete ruin.

Young Darryl Hickman is excellent as the son. Wendell Corey does a superb piece of acting in the part of Charley's no-good brother-in-law with Audrey Trotter, as his wife, giving a bitter emphasis to her role as a woman who has made a mess of her marriage.

Lust for Gold Stars Ford In Grim Role

Glenn Ford's captivating, ear-to ear grin has given way in his recent roles to a grim, had set of the jaws indicative of the ruthless characterizations which have come his way.

Now, Glenn is spotted in what is perhaps the meatiest role of his considerable career, the part of the murderous treasurer-seeker who eliminates all rivals in his quest for $20,000,000 in gold hidden in the Lost Dutchman mine. The film, Columbia's "Lust for Gold," is currently at the Rialto Theatre.

FACTUAL STORY

His interpretation is given added impact through the realization that this is no mere work of fiction penned by a Hollywood writer but is the true story of secret treasure cached in the Lost Dutchman mine in Arizona's Superstition Mountains reaching back through 100 years of daring, jealousy and murder.

Based upon Barry Storm's factual book, "Thunder Gods Gold," the authenticity of "Lust for Gold" is further attested to by Gov. Daniel E. Garvey of Arizona, who states that "this picture represents, to the best of our knowledge, the true facts concerning this unusual situation."

Ford, climaxes his recent gallery of tough hombres with the conscienceless killer whose lust for gold impels him to eliminate all opposition to possession of the fabulous gold mine!

His sole redeeming characteristic is his love for Ida Lupino, a calculating beauty making a pitch for the Lost Dutchman bonanza herself!

She keeps her marriage to Gig Young a secret from Ford as she plots to worm from the latter the location of the Lost Dutchman. When Ford learns of her husband, his evil mind devises a diabolical revenge. Using the bait of $20,000,000 in gold, he lures Miss Lupino and Young to the mine where, with ready rifle, he holds them at bay in the blazing heat without water and with no hope of escape!

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD.—(AP)—Haw! Haw! Clippety-clop. Clippety-clop.

You may expect to have your ears assaulted by these noises for the next few weeks. They are part of "Mule Train," a weird new song pouring forth incessantly from juke boxes and radios.

"Mule Train," which sounds more like a chant to a pack of mules than a song, hit the music trade like a cyclone. It has the record industry pressing night and day to meet the demand and beat the opposition.

Among the bigtime artists, Frankie Lane seems to have hit the market first. Vaughn Monroe who thought he had the song tied up because it's in his picture, hurried it onto wax, followed by Gordon MacRae. Bing Crosby quickly recorded it and his disc was being played on the air two hours later. Burl Ives and Gene Autry are the latest to get on the bandwagon.

All this fuss over a song that was written 4½ years ago.

It came about when three Hollywood songwriters went on a spree to Las Vegas. They were returning home after a week-end over a hot crap table.

As they drove through the Borax country of Death Valley, they got to thinking about the fabulous mule teams that worked the desert mines. By the time they reached town the song was pretty well worked out. It was waxed with a singer named Buzz Butler—and forgotten.

Forgotten until a few weeks ago, when the song writers met again in Hollywood. They became enthused, polished up the lyrics and put it on the market.

BINGO THURSDAY NIGHTS

NOVEMBER IS really time of year when little girls should be snug inside playing with dolls. But this year they can be outside enjoying afternoon tea in sunshine, with temperatures close to 70 in Edmonton. Enjoying their jellybeans, peanuts and Hallowe'en suckers are Arlene Katherine Mejean, 11136-71 street, Carol Marie Shepherd, 7020-111 avenue and Isobel June Smith, 11151-71 street. All are six years old and spent yesterday as if it were summer.

OLD TIMERS, perhaps more than anyone else, enjoy balmy unseasonable weather. With a long cold winter ahead, these two residents of Sunset Cottages in Highlands district are storing up sunshine. James Baggett, 65, 7560-111 avenue, has taken time out from tending his window plants to chat with 75-year-old Robert Kells, 7560-111 avenue.

Nehru Nears End Of American Visit

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 4—(UP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India left this afternoon for New York to wind up his month-long tour of North America. During the trip he has travelled 6,500 miles and made 42 public talks in Canada and the United States.

Nehru will leave New York for London, en route home, November 7.

Alberta Civil Service Seeks To Establish 5-Day Week

A vote to determine opinion of membership of Civil Service Association of Alberta for or against continuance of labor affiliations will be requested at the 29th annual convention of the association sessions opened today at Macdonald hotel.

Three of the 71 resolutions to be considered by the convention deal with the association's affiliation with organized labor. They are designed to sever that relationship.

Registration of the 96 delegates representing 4,200 members of the association started early today. They were welcomed by Mayor Harry Ainlay on behalf of the city, and by Hon. J. L. Robinson, minister of industries, on behalf of the provincial government.

The convention banquet and dance will be held tonight with Alderman Bower of Edmonton as chairman.

Establishment of the five day week in provincial service will be sought. Numerous resolutions dealing with this question have been submitted by branches throughout the province.

Majority of the resolutions deal with classification of workers, and their working conditions.

HONORED GUEST

Abe W. Millar, prominent city lawyer, will be one of the honored guests at the alumni, Homecoming, of the University of Alberta today and tomorrow.

He will be guest of his son, Tevvie, president of the students' union, and a third year law student.

Mr. Millar was in the first law class of 1924. He has a daughter Helen, who is in first year Education at Varsity also.

AINLAY KEPT BUSY

Mayor and Mrs. Harry Ainlay are being kept busy being guests of honor at functions by organizations all over the city.

Thursday night they were honored by South Side Business Men's Association at a dinner in South Side Presbyterian Church.

At 3 p.m. Friday Edmonton section of the Trans-Canada Highway Association made a presentation to the mayor, who is returning president.

Next Wednesday Edmonton Chamber of Commerce will honor Mayor Ainlay—who will be simply "Mr. Ainlay" then—with a full-blown luncheon in Macdonald hotel.

OFF TO U.S.

Paul E. Seddicum, United States consul here, Mrs. Seddicum and family are on an extended motor tour of the United States. Mr. Seddicum is on his annual leave of absence. In charge of the consulate is Edward B. Gleaves, recently appointed vice consul.

Ticket Demand Brings 900 More Seats For Show

The demand for tickets to Barbara Ann Scott's ice show here next week has been so great 900 extra seats are being installed at Edmonton Gardens.

The extra seats, which will be erected at the edge of the ice surface, will bring to about 7,000 the number of seats available for each performance of Skating Sensations of 1950.

Tickets for the 900 extra seats are available today at Mike's news depot on Jasper avenue.

Skating Sensations will appear at the Gardens Tuesday through Friday nights with a matinee one week from tomorrow afternoon.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4—(CP)—A national Canadian March of Dimes campaign was approved today by the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis. The drive is expected to get underway in January.

Lumberman Dies In City

A soldier in two wars, Roy H. Pointer, well-known Edmonton businessman, died in hospital here today following an illness of several months.

Mr. Pointer had been in the wholesale lumber business here since 1919.

Born 57 years ago at Waterloo, Que., the son of the late Mr and Mrs. Brunswick Pointer, he came west after long service overseas during the First World War.

During the Second World War, Mr. Pointer served as a major in command of the 19th Forestry Company.

Besides his wife and daughter, June, Mr. Pointer is survived by one brother, Elmore; five sisters, Mrs. David Dean, Vancouver, Mrs. Ralph Lett, Toronto, Mrs. Stewart McVean, Pembroke, Ont., Mrs. H. W. Burnett, Edmonton, and Miss Josephine Pointer, also of Edmonton.

Funeral services will be Saturday afternoon from Andrews-McLaughlin funeral chapel, Rev. Thomas L. Jackson, of Wesley United Church, officiating.

LONDON, Nov. 4 (Reuters)—Leaders of Britain's 700,000 coal miners yesterday met representatives of the National Coal Board to seek increased wages. No agreement was reached and the claim now is likely to be argued before a government-sponsored arbitration tribunal.

'Wrong Way' Instigator Is Retiring

The man who routed Edmonton street cars over the "wrong" side of the High Level bridge retires today after 38 years with the Edmonton Transit System.

He is Herbert Ward, general foreman of the system.

It was in 1914 that Mr. Ward thought of the idea of trams running south across the bridge on the east track, and north on the west track.

In a letter to his superintendent that year, Mr. Ward said the change would "add greatly to the safety of passengers," as it would allow them to alight at the centre of the bridge should a street car "become dead" on the big span.

Mr. Ward was born in Lancashire, England, coming to Alberta in 1907. He was appointed night foreman of the EPS the following year.

ON THE RACKS

My disrespect for the ridiculous pastime of curling started at a very early age.

As a boy, I can recall coming home from a raucous roughand-tumble hockey game, and passing the curling rink where all the painfully and grossly aged of the town gathered to curl.

The name itself smacked of femininity.

I could never see why they called it curling, because it had nothing whatever to do with curling anything, except perhaps the ends of the brooms which gradually toed forward during the session, a consequence of tired old men leaning on the handles.

I remember hearing the older men call it "great sport", but I could never fathom what sport there was in sweeping the ice instead of skating on it or shoving heavy rocks instead of stickhandling a puck on the smooth surface.

Any education I had for the game plummeted to zero when father started curling. It was one enough seeing dad dress up in heavy woolies and make a fool of himself with the other men, but I'll never forget the shock I got one time when mother started sweeping the kitchen.

Father grabbed the broom from her hand and said:

"Let me do it, dear, I need the practice."

PATRIOTIC PASTIME

As the years went on, I got older and started to analyse the game.

That didn't take long.

You [illegible] a bunch of tired businessmen [illegible] say like Eskimos on a seal hunt, some [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] end of a long, narrow sheet of ice, and start the game. And what is the game?

Well, tiddly winks is more invigorating, especially if played in the shirt-sleeves.

The object of the game is to toss approximately 40 pounds (and that ain't no pebble) down the ice into a circle.

This circle is colored red, white and blue, which makes curling a very patriotic game—if you don't a [illegible]

But let us not digress into international affairs.

★ ★ ★

CLEAN SWEEP

You try to throw your rock into the centre circle. While the rock is sliding down the ice, two of your three partners run ahead of it, sweeping like fiends.

I have never been able to figure out this sweeping business. There's never anything on the ice.

But they sweep anyway, until they get very red in the face from the exertion, whereupon they retire to the sidelines and lean on their brooms.

In the meantime, the fourth man of the "rink," as the team is called, stands at the other end of the ice and waves down to the fellow who threw the rock, thus proving they are still friends and at the same time letting his partner know he is still awake.

This rock-throwing and sweeping continues until everybody figures they've had enough, whereupon [illegible] retire to the clubhouse and [illegible] a time stove-[illegible] and warm again.

And believe me, you sure appreciate that stove because it gets [illegible] and so [illegible]

Adios, Bardos me.

I gue- dwice a week myself.

VARSITY DRILL ball will be busy place tomorrow night when senior men's basketball league opens. Waterloo Meteors, who meet Varsity in one half of double-header, will be counting on Dune Stockwell, left, formerly with Golden Bears. Norm Kimball, high-scoring guard, is expected to add scoring punch.

BOMBER STAR OUT FOR LEAF CONTEST

Edmonton Maple Leafs left town today for Vancouver and the second game of the western Canada junior football semi-finals. And just before departure they received news that Blue Bombers' Jack Patrick, [illegible] who threw three touchdown passes against Leafs here will likely miss the Saturday game.

Patrick suffered a knee injury in the closing minutes of the first game. Coach Ranji Mattu said Patrick will likely sit this one out. In his place will be 17-year-old Tommy Smith., playing his first year junior ball.

Leafs, still insisting they'll be better than when they showed here last, arrive in Vancouver 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. Game time is 2 p.m.

EAC Prepares For Medicine Hat Jaunt

An ex-Medicine Hat Tiger and 16 EAC players will invade the 'Hat tomorrow for an exhibition junior hockey game with the Tigers.

The former Tiger is 17-year-old Jimmy Johnson who recently moved to Edmonton with his family. He is small as juniors go, but is reputed to be a good skater.

Johnsen will play right wing on a line with Eddie Hrapinski and [illegible]

Others travelling to the southern city with the Clubmen will be: Goalkeepers Keith Randolph and Bill McLean; defencemen Norm Gronski, Bill Geary, and Don Perry; forwards Jim Dryden, Jack Schofield, Leo Dupuis, Don Haworth, Duke Edmundson, Del St. John, Gene Syska, Chester Waldron.

Coach Percy Rimstad and manager Ernie (Silent) Smalian will be in charge of the EAC party.

Bill McNally, recently purchased from Maple Leafs, Gordon Sturgyn and Bob Lesse will not make the trip.

And while the 1940 EAC outfit meets the Western Canada Junior hockey league-leading Tigers, [illegible]

Two of them—Eldor Thomas and Bruce Dickson—have sparked the Tigers to an early edge in the WCJHL. George McAvoy is rated one of the better defencemen currently blocking opposition forwards on behalf of Montreal Nationale juniors.

Doug Kilburn, still not released from EAC, is having a fine season to date with Kimberley Dynamiters and Eddie May will likely be a first-string player with University of Michigan.

Manenko will fill the vacancy created when Sewell was released at the end of the 1940 season.

Edmonton's senior men's basketball league opens tomorrow night at Varsity Drill hall.

But the edge debut is playing second fiddle to the "Who's Got Reg Clarkson?" problem.

Clarkson, who once played professional basketball with Vancouver Hornets in the Pacific Coast league, was thought to be a pro by all but a few people hereabouts.

Letters sent to Vancouver and Montreal have finally cleared the muddled atmosphere. Clarkson is definitely not a pro from basketball standpoint. Last season he toiled for Victoria YMCA on Vancouver Island.

It would probably boil down to this: Clarkson, for some unknown reason, decided against announcing his amateur standing. Two clubs in the local league—Sparling Davis and Waterloo Meteors—both have announced at different times their intentions of signing the football star.

And up to last night it's still anybody's guess who he winds up with. Meteors made the first pass at the elusive gentleman, but Sparlings, with connections on the Eaks football squad, claim they've got him signed, sealed and ready for delivery.

Cage opener features a double-header with Meteors meeting Varsity and Sparlings against YMCA [illegible]

★ ★ ★

At last year, Bob Strothers' Meteors are rated in the No. 1 position, mostly on the strength of Gordy Pearce, league's high scorer.

Sparlings new entry in the loop, figure to be up close with Varsity third and Toilers bringing up the rear.

That's strictly unofficial and don't bet on it.

Six Rinks Tied As Stretch Run Starts in Auto 'Spiel

STANDING

Section A	W	L	Section B	W	L
Johnson	2	0	D'Amour	2	0
Olson	2	0	LeBeau	2	0
Simpson	2	0	Hodgins	2	0
Polski	2	0	Campbell	2	0
Gray	0	2	Mowbray	0	2
Barling	0	2	Franklin	0	2

While Edmonton basked in the balmiest January [illegible] weather in history yesterday, 12 rinks began a stretch run for the cars in the Associated Canadian Travellers' bonspiel.

And when the first two draws had been completed at midnight Thursday three rinks in each section were deadlocked with two wins each.

It was Johnson, Olson and Simpson leaving the hack on top in section A, while D'Amour, Hodgins and LeBeau enjoyed a similar edge in section B.

They go right back at it again today, curling for cars on the 9 a.m., 3 p.m. and 9 p.m. draws. Sectional finalists will be declared today (unless there are any ties) and finals are slated tomorrow.

All games in the car competition will be played at the Gardens henceforth.

Around bonspiel headquarters last night they were touting the Simpson quartet from the irrigation country around Bassano as being one of the rinks to watch.

Simpson plays a knockout game, never allowing his opponent to run up large ends. This was significant last night as the Simpson's knocked off Theo D'Amour 12-8 in one semi-final of the second event.

Ole Olson of the Edmonton Royal topped Werl Mowbray 16-8 in the other semi-final match of the second event.

While D'Amour was the big game knocked 'em over in section B, Jack LeBeau from Varsity appears to be coming with a 1-guns trained on the cars. Drawshot artist LeBeau, who travelled to a Macdonald Brier championship with Howard Palmer's Calgary quartet in 1941, won three yesterday.

He scuttled Campbell and Franklin in the car competition, and trounced Caldwell 13-8 in a third-draw match.

Attendance at the Gardens last night was pitifully small, a consequence of ACT officials finding recently scheduling 'car games' at the Edmonton and Granite clubs. As a result, only matches of minor importance (in light of the major booty at stake) were run off on the five sheets of ice in the Gardens.

Here is the morning draw in the various event:

SECTION A

Johnson vs. Gray: Barling vs. Polski; Olson vs. Simpson.

SECTION B

LeBeau vs. Mowbray; Hodgins vs. D'Amour; Campbell vs. Franklin.

Mexico Tops US In Show

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(CP)—Horsemen and horses from Mexico made it four major victories in a row yesterday in the military jumping competition at the United States national horse show, but there were glitterings of hope in a determined team representing the republic of Ireland.

Mexico barely defeated the Irish in the international low score competition challenge trophy feature of the afternoon events at Madison Square Garden.

In fact, only one knockdown of a barrier that cost Ireland 10 precious seconds in penalty saved the Mexicans from their first defeat in the third day of the Premier Horse extravaganza in North America.

As it was, the event, limited to four horses from each country, went to the Mexicans, who were timed in two minutes, 24.4 seconds, compared to 2:25.7 for the Irish. The Canadian Army team was third, clocked at an aggregate of 3:38.4, with the Chilean team fourth, in 3:52.5.

Ireland will have a chance to draw even tomorrow in the second event of the three-day series, which closes with Sunday's finale.

In three international events prior to this one—all individual affairs—Mexico riders swept the [illegible]

St. Joe's, Scona in Scoreless Tie

St. Joe's and Scona battled to a scoreless tie yesterday in the sudden-death playoff to decide who will oppose Vic in the junior high school football finals.

So the junior gridders will do it all over again at South Side Athletic Grounds this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Winner of the game will meet the unbeaten Victoria outfit immediately following the Alberta senior final at Clarke Stadium tomorrow [illegible]

EDMONTON CURLERS OPEN MONDAY

After the winners have driven away in the cars being competed for this week in the ACT bonspiel, members of the Edmonton Curling Club will open their winter-long season.

On Monday the first draw of the year will leave the hack.

There will be two double draws this year, on Mondays and Thursdays at 7 and 9 o'clock, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday games are scheduled for 8 p.m.

No club games will be scheduled on Saturday nights.

SCONA MEETS CALGARY ON SATURDAY

Scona high school, fresh from an 11-1 win over Garneau-University in the city final, will meet the Calgary representative for the provincial high school title at Clarke Stadium tomorrow.

Packing an unbeaten, untied record in the finals, Scona will be slight favorites Saturday the two clubs kick off at 2:30 p.m.

Locals will outweigh the Calgary line by about five pounds. Visitor's backfield is reputed to be one of the fastest in the Calgary loop.

Garden Bout Moved Ahead

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 —(AP)— The International boxing club today moved Sam Baroud to the Rome Zbosh heavyweight match into the Dec. 2 Madison Square Garden date after negotiations fell through for a non-title bout between middleweight Jake La Motta and Robert Villemain of France.

The La Motta-Baroud bout, banded together two of the better young heavyweights, originally was set for Dec. 9.

Originally La Motta was to have defended his title Dec. 2 against ex-champ Marcel Cerdan. Cerdan was killed in a plane crash a week ago enroute to start training for the bout.

Sam Snead Clings To Slim Lead

PINEHURST, N.C., Nov. 4—(AP)—Sam Snead clung to his one-stroke lead in the North and South Open golf tournament with a two-under-par 70 yesterday for a 108 total for 36 holes.

But the slamming man from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., was seriously challenged by six other par-busters as the field braced itself for today's 36-hole wind-up.

Johnny Burke, Pittsburgh professional, who began the day a stroke back of Snead, hung on at that distance, matching Snead's 70 for 139 and second place, one stroke away.

In third place with 140 after a 69 yesterday) was [illegible] champion Gary [illegible] out of Ormond Beach, Fla. His 36-hole was the day's lowest round for the 6,000-yard course at the Pinehurst Country club.

Only three strokes away at 141 came Johnny Palmer of Hahn, N.C., veteran Denny Shute of Akron, Ohio, and Ted Kroll, Philadelphia, Pa.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Gus Mancuso, former major league catcher and in recent years a minor-league manager, was added to the Cincinnati Reds' coaching staff today by Luke Sewell, new manager, in announcing Mancuso's appointment and he has retained Tony Cuccinello and Phil Page as coaches.

STAN Moher ON SPORT

The Boss of the Stockyard Bulls

The voice on the other end of the line sounded familiar, but it wasn't possible to nail it down, right off.

"How did 'our' horse do today?" the man wanted to know. In this case "our horse" happened to be Lee Williams' Franks Mistake, presently campaigning at Toronto.

There followed the business of determining that the Alberta Derby winner of 1948 had run out a few hours previously, before "the voice" identified itself with a: "This is Webb King."

These times Webb King's main sporting interest is the thoroughbreds. Specifically, his blood pressure rises and falls with the fortunes of a string of gee-gees campaigning in the silks of his employer, the aforementioned Lee Williams.

But there was a time, rapidly getting to 20 years ago now, when the name of Webb King "made" the sports pages with great regularity under its own momentum.

A stocky, jut-jawed fellow who chewed tobacco in the best traditions of baseball, the color-loaded King managed Stockyard Bulls, as they were known in Senior league circles.

Boyle Street diamond was the baseball mecca in that era. And King battled tooth and nail alongside his men in the stirring pennant chases involving also South Siders, Young Liberals, Cubs and more teams.

He Believed in Being Out in Front

And Webb King was no Burt Shotton. Unlike the manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers (the Dodgers are in the National league, as distinguished from the majors) he religiously donned a uniform on the night of a game, jabbed a "chaw" into his mouth, and headed out to the third-base coach's box.

From that vantage point he contrived to keep an eye on the baseball antics of such gay souls as Bobby Carruthers, Bill Bell, Joe Dell, Budd Williamson, Clayton Dodgshun, "Shorty" Phillips, Johnny Henning, Alva Carruthers and more.

In retrospect it seems that Bell, particularly, caused manager King to swallow his tobacco oftener than the rest of his teammates. Bell was a big, temperamental fellow, who played first base. A pretty good rapper, he was frequently on the base-paths. Once there he couldn't wait to get ahead in the world.

So he took the long lead (and got caught off every now and then), or over-ran the next hassock and like as not had to scramble back to safety, just making it ahead of a throw.

And all the while the King jaws worked like fury, while he splattered the area around third, with little puffs of dust rising in all directions.

Right here and now any suggestion that the popular Webb King wrote Tobacco Road must be denied. But no one can be so certain that he didn't inspire it, possibly.

"Gladu Pitching, Henning Catching"

In those days the Bulls had a hard-knocking Indian righthander, "Chief" Gladu. And Gladu provided manager King with some anxious moments, too.

The Chief had one of those "downers" (a "drop", it was known as then) that was difficult to control. On his good days, when he was finding the strike zone with his favorite pitch, Gladu was rough. But he had those games where the ball was in the dirt all the time, so that catcher Henning suffered along with King as the count repeatedly went to three-and-two, or the Spalding bounded away to the backstop.

Manager King always had to send out for a fresh plug when "Wahoo" Gladu was going bad.

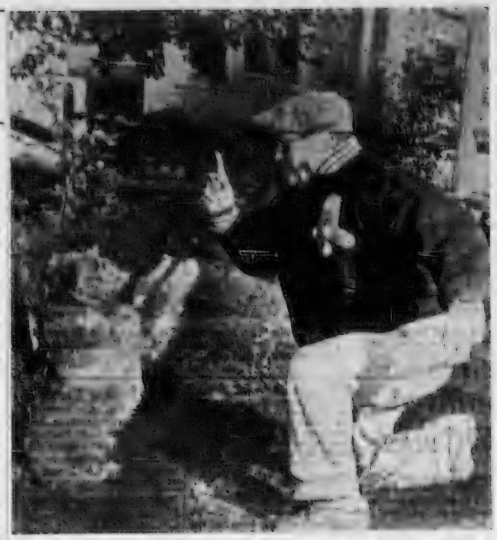
The Bulls won their share of titles before Webb King turned his back on baseball, just about the time Renfrew Park opened in 1933. He set up shop along the third-base line for just one season, following the switch from Boyle Street to Diamond Park, and thence to Renfrew.

Then he was gone.

Once we asked him why the sudden run-out powder.

"Baseball became too highly commercialized," he explained, and that took the fun out of it for me." There was a hint of bitterness in his voice.

What's more, he hasn't been inside Renfrew Park since that 1933 season.



ASSURED THAT they'll keep on eating, Joe McCarthy and his Irish terrier, Terry, romp on the front lawn of Joe's home at East Amherst, N.Y., after Joe signs two-year contract to manage those Boston Red Sox again and attempt to cut down those pesky New York Yankees who were once McCarthy's own charges.

Conny Smythe Wins Out; Lewicki Ready to Return

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—(CP)—Danny Lewicki, teen-aged hockey player who was banned from organized amateur and professional hockey because he did not comply with terms of the National League's controversial C form, was just about back in the game today, paper work.

His release from Stratford in the Ontario Hockey Association junior series has been mailed to OHA offices in Toornto and machinery will be put into motion soon to reinstate the classy 18-year-old left-winger. And he will play where organized hockey said he would—with the Toronto Maple Leaf organization as a junior with a Leaf club, Toronto Marlboros.

The "C form kid" made his peace with the game Wednesday, ending a supension of nearly a month clamped on him by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the NHL. It is expected finis will be written today to one of the most celebrated off-the-ice battles in years.

"It's all cleared up with Lewicki and it is all cleared up with me," said Conny Smythe, managing director of the Leafs who held the C form signed by Lewicki just after his 16th birthday.

It was Smythe who declared last spring Lewicky would play this season with the Leaf organization "or not at all." And he was backed up by the CAHA and NHL who placed an indefinite suspension on the player last Oct. 6 when he refused to sign a pro contract with the Leafs.

Smythe said everything was set except the release from Stratford, but Harold Wyatt, president of the Stratford club, told the Canadian Press in a telephone interview that Lewicki's release was "in the mail to Toronto."

Wyatt aid he "left the decion up to Lewicki and the kid wants to play in Toronto." The Stratford official also said Leafs would pay a substantial amount and that Marlboros would give Stratford four players—not regulars with the Toronto club—for Lewicki.

Smythe declined to say the price involved—"We always pay and pay"—and added he did not know the players who would go to Stratford.

PRAGUE—(AP)—Soviet champion F. F. Vanin has bettered the world's record for 50,000 metres in a race at Tbilisi, Czechoslovakia, by running the distance in 1:39:14.6. The official mark is 1:40:40.4, set by Nikko Hietanen of Finland.

'Pug Fighter Wins Decision

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 4.—(CP)—George Sinclair, ex-Winnipegger now living in Toronto, scored a unanimous decision last night over Billy Trembiatt of London in the five-round featherweight feature of a boxing card promoted by the Chicken Coop A.C.

Stamps Minus 2 Players

CALGARY, Nov. 4.-(CP)—Two of Calgary Stampeders' outstanding players will be sitting on the sidelines when the Dominion champions meet Saskatchewan Roughriders in Regina Saturday in the first game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union playoff.

Tom Brook, Stamps' president said yesterday that Paul Rowe and Vern Graham would be going to Regina only for the ride. Both received injuries in Edmonton Monday night, the last scheduled game of the WIFU season.

TEAM CRIPPLED

"We're taking a bunch of cripples," said Brook, who refused to comment on the nature of the two players' injuries or say when they would see action.

Rowe, however, has a cast on his leg and is believed to have suffered a dislocated sacroiliac.

Graham, homebrew flying wing this year won the Western Union's scoring title, largely on his place-kicking prowess. Rowe, the veteran Victoria-born fullback, was the champion scorer last year and this year plunged for six touchdowns to wind up in fifth place among the league's point-getters.

The squad left by train for Regina last night. Their car was tacked on the end of the special carrying 200 supporters in western regalia and a chuckwagon. Brook said the Stamps would take it easy after their arrival in Regina Saturday morning.

REVIEW DEFEAT

Coach Lex Lear meanwhile took his crew to a movie. Stamps were members of the picture cast but the Riders were the heroes. The film was of the Oct. 22 game here in which the Riders won 9-6, the only WIFU loss for Calgary in two seasons.

The silent flicker was enlivened by a running commentary from Lear—and not of the flattering variety. It was reported the practice following was one of the most rugged and spirited sessions Stamps went through in many weeks.

Suspension Lifted

REGINA, Nov. 4 — (CP) — Al Pickard, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said last night it has lifted the suspension on Donald McLaughlin of Halifax and that he has wired Halifax giving them permission to use him.

NL Rookie Award To Don Newcombe

By Joe Reichler

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.-(AP)-Don Newcombe, giant Negro pitcher of Brooklyn Dodgers, was voted today the National League's rookie of the year in an Associated Press poll.

The remaining 11 votes were scattered among six freshmen. Willie (Puddin-head) Jones, hard-hitting third-baseman of Philadelphia Phils, was runner-up with four votes. Del Crandall, youthful catcher who joined Boston Braves in mid-season, was next with three.

Newcombe, a short time, became the Dodgers' No. 1 pitcher. Not only was he given the job of facing the Cards in the opener of their vital series in St. Louis Sept. 21, but he was manager Burt Shotton's choice to open the World Series against New York Yankees.

Don got his baptism of fire May 20 as a relief pitcher against Boston Braves. He blanked Cincinnati Reds, 5-0, on his five shutout victories.

TORONTO MAPLE LEAFS are on prowl for Stanley Cup once more. Defending champs are currently in hot streak. Here Ray Timgren flips puck past New York Ranger goalie Chuck Rayner. Last time two teams met, Leafs had to come from behind to grab 4-4 tie. Toronto-ites are tied for first place in National Hockey League with Detroit Red Wings.

CANADIANS pause on Remembrance Day to pay tribute to the courage of those who died to keep us free.

These young men and women gave "the last full measure of devotion" to causes that perhaps not all of them fully understood. But today it is our job to understand these causes, to recognize Canada's place among the nations, and to do all we can to preserve freedom among men.

The stout hearts and strong arms of her sons and daughters have always been Canada's sure shield. Every Remembrance Day we honour those who went forth to battle in almost every decade of our nation's history from 1775 to 1945.

This Day, as we pay tribute to those who gave everything, we remember the living too, and the descendants of those who fell. Let us help the Canadian Legion whose self-appointed task is to see that neither are forgotten, that the dead are honoured and the living helped.

It is a privilege for every Canadian to wear a Poppy to help the Canadian Legion raise the POPPY FUND. And while the "Last Post" is sounding this Remembrance Day, wearing a POPPY shows we remember our debt to the veterans of Canada's wars and their families.

Canora Club Aids Community Work

Rink and Handicraft Classes Are Examples of Stellar Work

Enthusiastic volunteer workers of the recently formed Canora Club are setting a fine example of how a co-operating group can become a mighty force in a growing community.

Stretching from 149 street to 174 street and on both sides of this long area a lot of progressive development is in prospect from the work already undertaken by these men and women.

The group is the backbone of two beneficial school projects and plans are to interest themselves in others.

A. P. Barry, Canora Club president, says his organization is ready to begin construction of a rink house this Sunday. It will be built on Canora School grounds on 105 avenue between 154 and 156 streets.

The rink itself is ready for ice, but the active group has decided that their district must have an enclosed rink. So, they're tackling the job.

Plans are to have the building house a concession as well as other services associated with a rink.

INSTRUCT CHILDREN

Women members of the Canora Club have been the main financiers and have raised more than $1,000 to help in the work of the organization. In the summer the rink will be used for tennis and baseball.

Second project will be children's handicraft instruction at the school. Mondays from 6:30 to 8 p.m. children of the district will meet for instruction by skilled parents of the community who have volunteered as instructors.

Now in their second year, the craft classes were instituted by Mrs. Ella Wener, principal of the school.

Theatre Burns

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Nov. 4—(CP)—Fire swept through the Granada theatre here last night and the main floor collapsed. No people were in the theatre as it had been closed for alterations. Origin of the blaze is unknown

ONE BOY CRIME WAVE HALTED

KITCHENER, Ont., Nov. 4—(CP)—Police said yesterday they had ended a month-long wave of housebreaking with the arrest of a 15-year-old boy.

The boy admitted to eight breakins, but had actually committed so many he could not remember them all, police said. Police said the boy's loot was estimated to be worth hundreds of dollars, but none of it had been recovered.

Junior Farmers Meet In Toronto

OTTAWA, Nov. 4—(CP)—Junior farmers from all provinces will gather in Toronto Nov. 13-18 to participate in the 10th annual National Junior Farmers Club Week, the Agriculture Department announced today. A record number of 100 provincial junior farmer champions are expected to attend.

Union Proposal Bans Alta. 'Hire Trucks'

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 — (CP) — Truck lines that parallel "adequate" railway service should be removed from the highways, the Royal Commission on Transportation was told yesterday.

A. J. Kelly of Ottawa, spokesman for 20 rail unions, advanced that contention as he continued evidence in the commission's general inquiry into Canada's transportation problems.

Mr. Kelly came under sharp cross-examination from Alberta counsel J. J. Frawley.

Mr. Kelly said he would advocate wiping out "for hire" truck services altogether where they operate between points where a railway can and will provide adequate service. The proposal would not apply to firms owning trucks to transport their own products.

Mr. Frawley said that would remove trucks from virtually all of Alberta's main highways.

"If the railway can and will provide adequate service, there is no good reason to have a highway carrier in direct competition," Mr. Kelly said.

"Would you say it would be for the good of Alberta to take off the trucks?" Mr. Frawley asked.

Mr. Kelly said he was not familiar enough with Alberta to answer that.

The Alberta counsel suggested that removal of truck competition in his province would result in the railways hoisting freight rates which had been depressed to meet the competition.

Group Helps to Overcome Juvenile Delinquency Trend

Change of title as well as change of executive highlighted a recent meeting of the Parents-Teachers Association of Canora district.

New name approved by the group was The Canora Club. Its purpose, executive stated, would be to promote all community activities in the school area and to promote welfare and well-being of the community.

Motion was passed to co-operate with all other agencies engaged in combatting juvenile delinquency and lawlessness.

New slate of officers elected are D. Barry, president; Mrs. J. Allan and Mrs. M. Borden, vice-presidents; Mrs. V. Scott, secretary and Mrs. R. Tompkins, treasurer.

Committee chairman named are Mrs. R. Shier, Mrs. S. Allan, Mr. Morin, Mrs. H. Bell, Mrs. M. Borden, and Mrs. Wener.

The meeting was told that an average of more than 200 children between the age group of six to 16 attend handicraft classes sponsored by the association.

Vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Wener, principal of Canora school, who helped form the Club.

William Desmond Dies In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4—(AP)—William Desmond, a matinee idol of silent movies, died Wednesday night of a respiratory ailment, Desmond, 71, began his film career in 1915, appearing in "Ivanhoe" with Julia Burke. But before that he was the hero in leading plays on Broadway and in Los Angeles, among them "Quo Vadis," "Bird of Paradise," "Ben Hur," "Alias Jimmy Valentine," "Sign of the Cross," and "Romeo and Juliet."

IT WAS MEAT IN NAME ONLY

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4—(CP)—No matter how you adulterate it, it's still bologna—or so two Winnipeg manufacturers thought.

The law didn't see it that way.

In police court yesterday Community Food Stores, Ltd., and the City Meat and Sausage Company paid $280 in fines and penalties for being too lavish with cereal in their products—garlic and wiener sausage and bologna.

Nationalization Of Railroads Okayed

DUBLIN, Nov. 4—(AP)—The Dail last night approved in principle a bill to nationalize railroads and other transport services in the republic of Ireland. The measure was given second reading by a vote of 74 to 52. The bill now goes to committee hearings and third and final reading in the Dail.

Food Statement

OTTAWA, Nov. 3—(CP)—G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) yesterday asked Trade Minister Howe in the Commons for a statement on the United Kingdom's decision to cut food purchases in Canada. Mr. Howe said the subject has been under discussion for officials but he had nothing to add to previous statements.

LAWYER SAYS CLIENTS INFLUENCED BY POLICE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4—(CP)—Defence counsel for three men facing charges in the death of Mrs. Dora Sadova today charged two of his clients had been influenced by police before the trial.

C. C. N. Kushner appeared for William Lusanko, charged with murdering the 65-year-old recluse, and Leslie Nahlian and Alvin Love, facing conspiracy counts. He said Kahlian and Love had changed their minds about testifying after an interview with police.

His request to meet privately with them before they testified was refused on the grounds they were already sworn in.

Mr. Kushner said he would lodge a complaint with the Board of Police Commissioners.

PROPOSITION MADE

At the hearing, Kahlian, 18, and Love said they had been approached by Lusanko to "go on a job with him." He had mentioned "about $5,000" in the woman's mattress.

They said they had refused.

Mr. Kushner, in his cross-examination, failed to establish that they had been induced by promises of immunity or a light sentence.

About 20 witnesses of a scheduled 30 presented testimony at today's hearing.

Mrs. Sadova, whose body was found bound with tape in the bedroom of her ramshackle north-end house Sept. 13, was known as the "cat woman" because of her fondness for pets.

Ontario Revises Education Set-Up

High School Entrance Exams Are To Be Discontinued

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Nov. 4.—(CP)—Education Minister Porter of Ontario last night announced that high school entrance examinations will be discontinued at the earliest possible date as one step in a complete revision of the curriculum in all Ontario schools. The revision now is being planned, he [illegible]

In an address Mr. Porter told a [illegible] St. Thomas and [illegible] Teachers' Association that [illegible] will be reorganized [illegible] be to break down rigid grade groups and make courses in the province's schools continuous through the grades.

The junior division would consist of classes of 24-30 pupils in which approximately one-third of the pupils would come from each age group—9, 10 and 11. Again, the students would remain with one teacher three years.

The intermediate division would consist of pupils from [illegible]

Elimination of high school entrance examinations, he said, is designed to break down "an arbitrary break between grades eight and nine, which prevents proper articulation between the elementary and secondary levels."

40 to 50 Wells in City Forecast by Ex-Mayor

Drilling Beneath Limits Would Not Mar City Face

Edmonton in the near future may have from 40 to 50 producing oil wells within the city limits.

Possibility of this was voiced last night by retiring Mayor Harry D. Ainlay. He was addressing a supper meeting, held in his honor, sponsored by the South Edmonton Business Association in Strathcona Church Hall.

"Engineers have told me that if oil is found near the city it is possible that enough oil may be found under the city to supply 40 or 50 wells," said Mayor Ainlay.

If it was necessary to drill for oil under the city it could be done without marring surface features of the city the mayor said.

Revenue derived from this source by council could be well spent by using it for beautification and landscaping, he said.

NO ONE TO SEE

Mayor Ainlay traced the development of the city over a period of years, pointing out how the oil industry had affected Edmonton's growth within the past four years.

In the matter of street paving, which, he said, council had been sniped at for not doing a proper job, he remarked: "We have over 300 miles of roads in the city.

"I doubt if the youngest person here tonight will be alive to see the day when all of Edmonton's streets are paved," he stated.

This year, 83 miles of city streets are being paved, while 217 miles of roadway were gravelled, said Mayor Ainlay.

Highlights of his four years as mayor were also given the group.

Life membership in the South Edmonton Business Association and a pen and pencil set were presented the mayor.

ASKS CO-OPERATION

In conclusion Mayor Ainlay asked the group to co-operate wholeheartedly with his successor and the incoming council.

"I know you have been most helpful in the past and will continue to do so in the future," he ended.

Other guest speakers were Norman MacBeth, past president of South Side Kiwanis; A. Adamson, councillor of municipal district of Strathcona; and Allan Hamilton, president of Strathcona Legion.

Frank Cowles, association president, introduced Mayor Ainlay and acted as chairman.

Property Owners Meet Friday

Meeting of the Edmonton Property Owners' Association, slated for Friday night in the public library, will hear an address by city commissioner John Hodgson.

Getting underway at 8 p.m. the meeting will hear a talk on Edmonton's housing conditions.

Wolves and Foxes Endangering Fliers

Animals Chewing Insulation From Landing Field Lights

By J. Y. O'Neill
Bulletin Staff Reporter

The wolves are getting bolder and the foxes are aping them.

Not satisfied with having caused an estimated $75,000 livestock loss to Alberta farmers in the past year, the destructive critters now have jointly declared war on the federal department of transport.

They are attempting to sabotage night landings and take-offs on the D.O.T.'s numerous landing fields in the far north.

The wolves and foxes use a simple method which has arisen from a new diet fad they've adopted.

Their new diet supplement is synthetic rubber.

CHEW RUBBER

The nuisance has not yet turned into a menace, but the animals' activities are causing extra vigilance on the part of airfield maintenance personnel.

A. A. Haines, D.O.T. senior electrical supervisor, said today the rubber-chewing wolves are particularly bothersome at Fort Smith and Embarras landing fields.

He said they skulk in the shrubbery and when all seems quiet they sneak stealthily as if stalking prey and pounce upon the light socket.

Mr. Haines exhibited an insulation-bared socket which had been crushed into a fantastic shape by the strong teeth of a wolf.

The animal that performed the job must have had an unpleasant surprise, said Mr. Haines.

Part of the light globe was still in the socket indicating it must have exploded with a loud report and at the same time gave the wolf the full treatment of 115 volts in his wet and drooling mouth.

BLACKOUT

On this occasion the animal's action doused all the lights at the field, said Mr. Haines.

Some of the more voracious types are not satisfied with just nibbling surface insulation but "set their forepaws and pull, dragging out feet of underground cable.

Foxes are more delicate in their treatment.

They just nibble a bit and beat it.

Disturbed D.O.T. officials, in pondering a solution, have considered among other things the placing of chopped up old synthetic rubber tires in the animal-tempting areas and letting them chew to their stomach's content.

RETIRING Mayor Harry Ainlay accepts life membership certificate from Frank Cowles, president of South Edmonton Business Association. Mr. Ainlay was also presented with pen and pencil set at dinner in his honor last night.

CANADIAN AIRMEN are getting chummy with their brother birdmen from below 49th parallel. In Edmonton for discussions on forthcoming joint air exercises near Whitehorse in new year is Maj.-Gen. Robert M. Lee (right), commanding general USAF, Langley Field, Virginia. He is talking over air power tactics with Air Commodore H. M. Carscallen, acting air officer commanding North West Air Command.

NO PERMITS

Home Owners Pay Fines For Moving

Sometimes the law can be maddening.

Everyone knows that trying to find a place to live around Edmonton is about as pleasant as a shot in the head.

So three city men had a great idea to beat the housing shortage.

They couldn't find homes in Beverly, where they wanted to move.

So, like the mountain going to Mahommed, they brought the houses to where they wanted to live, had homes snapped from Edmonton to Beverly.

But, the eager home owners forgot to get moving permits.

They were each fined $5 and costs in Beverly police court Wednesday—"a statutory fine" said Justice of the Peace, W. Curtis.

Dr. K. M. Gordon Elected Head Of SS Kiwanis

Dr. K. M. Gordon was elected president of the South Side Kiwanis Club at a meeting held recently in the King Edward hotel.

Other officers are Glenn L. Gray and W. Danny MacLeod, vice-presidents; Frank H. Oakie, secretary; A. Elliott Salter, treasurer.

Directors are James O. Pritchard, Harold Brodie, Arthur Fuller, Andrew M. Adamson, Frank Cowles, David Roberts and Dr. William A. Shandro.

Parade Note

Regular parades for the 44 HAA WKSP and 156 LAD RCEME will be held Friday at 8 p.m.

English Evangelist Due Here Tomorrow

Outstanding English evangelist, Rev. Dr. Donald O. Soper, will arrive in Edmonton tomorrow to begin a preaching tour of principal Canadian cities.

Sponsored by the United church of Canada, Dr. Soper is here in connection with the church's 20th anniversary celebrations.

An minister and superintendent of West London Mission, London, England, he is one of the best-known Methodist ministers of the British Isles.

Sunday morning, Dr. Soper will preach at Robertson church. He will then address local audiences daily until his departure next Saturday.

Author of several religious books, including "Christianity And It's Crisis," the English evangelist is noted for his regular Sunday afternoon, open-air meetings in Hyde Park, and also for his broadcasts over the BBC.

He has spent a number of years doing missionary work in India and other parts of the commonwealth.

After leaving Edmonton, which is the first city on his Canadian itinerary, Dr. Soper will address audiences in Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and various Maritime cities.

BIG PROGRAM

His program here will include: Morning and evening services at Roberton church Sunday; luncheon address to the Kiwanis Club Monday; an informal conference on evangelism with ministers of all denominations, Tuesday afternoon in St. Stephen's College; and an address Wednesday morning to university students in Convocation Hall.

He will also speak each evening at eight o'clock in Robertson church.

Viking Breeder Buys Top Sow

Former hockey star turned livestock breeder, Clem Loughlin, Viking, paid top price for a Yorkshire sow at the annual swine sale sponsored by Edmonton Exhibition Association here yesterday.

He purchased S. W. Sheppard's prize-winning Chiselhurst 17D for $235 after spirited bidding with several other breeders.

Total of $25,140 was realized for 384 swine offered for sale.

Tamworth sows sold at an average of $58.58, and boars brought an average of $92.50.

An average of $68.52 was realized from sale of 396 Yorkshire sows, and $63.32 average from sale of 361 Yorkshire boars.

The fall livestock show will conclude today with the auction of purebred ewes and rams.

Bogus Bills Fill Pockets

CALGARY, Nov. 4—(CP)—Police reported last night the arrest of Carl Feipel of Melville, Sask., found with more than $1,600 in counterfeit $10 bills in his possession.

Police said they found $1,830 in bogus bills wrapped in a paper bundle in one of Feipel's pockets. Feipel said he arrived in Calgary from Melville Oct. 28.

During the last few days three counterfeit $10 bills have been turned over to police.

Bristol Channel, Britain's largest inlet, is about 80 miles long.

Unemployment Insurance Claims Drop

Unemployment insurance claims paid out here during October totalled $30,674, a drop of $6,503 from figures of September.

Officials also announced that at Oct. 27 there were considerably more applications for work than there were jobs available.

There were 1,452 males who applied for 491 vacancies while there were 993 female candidates for 337 jobs.

Officials added the situation was not abnormal since this is the period when workers leave the country expected to get city jobs.

The coming Christmas mailing rush will require an auxiliary post-office staff for a period of two weeks or more.

Employment officials said there will be openings in this field for experienced workers who will be needed by Dec. 1.

Application forms are available at the National Employment Service office.

Civil Servants Plan Ceremony

Provincial civil servants in Edmonton will pay tribute to the memory of former fellow workers who died in the First and Second World Wars at a special Remembrance Day service.

The service will be conducted at the rotunda of the legislative building Thursday, Nov. 10.

Three Police To Die

BELGRADE, Nov. 4 — (AP) — Yugoslav people's court yesterday sentenced three former police officials to be hanged on charges of imprisoning and torturing thousands of Yugoslavs during the Second World War. They were accused of working with the Gestapo.

The Canadian National Railways is the largest rail system in North America operated under one management.

Pottery Pretties Fine Baby Gifts

By Bea Thrifty

Sweet little strangers are arriving thick 'n fast by stork transportation these days.

Luckily, most young mothers have had time to sew fine seams, knit soft fluffy sweaters and generally prepare a more than adequate wardrobe for the newcomer.

Besides all this, doting friends and relations have showered the prospective Mom with all sorts of cunning little didoes for the wee moppet.

Problem it . . . how can a casual but sincere acquaintance make her good wishes and congratulations felt in the nicest way . . .

At the expense of being impractical I have a few crafty suggestions to make.

Don't you think a new mother whose baby has enough clothes, rattles, hot water bottles, booties, silver spoons 'n such . . . would simply love a tiny china basket filled with rosebuds?

I saw little china bunnies grinning smugly as they carried a gay little basket filled with various rosebuds . . . to the tune of $3.50.

* * *

Another sweet white lamb carried a small basket of daisies on his back. A pretty pink ribbon held the basket firmly to the dear lambie. This cost but $2.00. When the flowers fade and die, there is still the pretty china ornament to have and to hold . . . to fill again and again with fresh flowers . . . an eternal reminder of some friend's kind consideration.

* * *

Oh! Bother!

I just broke a beastly fingernail on this bad ol' typewriter . . . what to do.

Well for this experience-wisened gal it's out with the mending material for same fingernail. Idea is to mend the nail immediately to keep the break from spreading. I often find it quite a sure satisfactory cure.

* * *

Apply colorless nail polish; while it's still damp, I put a small piece of tissue over the crack and tapping over the nail edge. Push the tissue under the nail edge and seal it in place with more colorless nail polish. Now, when this major operation is performed, lacquer the whole works with your regular shade of polish.

Almost simple isn't it?

* * *

Bazaar shopping is often a wonderful way to pick up potential gift-ideas.

Still in the buy-for-baby mood I found the tiniest, sweetest, dearest, funniest pair of minute mitts selling for 25c. They were obviously made from bag ends of afghan wool but nonetheless charming for all that.

* * *

There is an easy gesture for you knitters.

Whip up a dozen or so pair of the tiny mitts in an evening . . . and think of the joy you can spread!

I know you can spare an evening . . . I'm going to.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Holiday Privileges Won't Become Habits

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

With the holiday vacation times looming ahead parents are often worried about the influence of a vacation upon their children. Aware that the child enjoys privileges which are forbidden at home, the parents feel that the children will not settle down into the reins again when vacation is over.

They express these same fears when the children come under the influence of an indulgent Grandma or Grandpa. They say to themselves, "Won't she be a little demon when she doesn't have Grandma to wait on her hand and foot?"

In all human relationships individuals react differently to different persons and in different situations. Since all of us turn different facets of our character to the varying personalities with whom we come in contact, we may expect the child to do the same.

On vacation or at some relatives, the child is in a new and different environment. He reacts to this environment. He reacts to the persons with whom he is newly associated. If they spoil him he enjoys it and accepts it. But, he doesn't expect the same treatment from his parents who have never spoiled him. And he won't expect any of this when he gets back to his familiar environment of home.

It will only take one day of firmness for the parents to show the child that vacation is over, now, and all the privileges attached to it are past. Now they go back to living in their usual way again. Even babies feel this influence.

The child recognizes that he cannot have ice cream or candy every night, even if he had it some-he was away from home and it was to be had easily. He knows that Mother hasn't time to wait on him as Grandma did and he won't demand the same service from her. He may if Grandma comes to visit, because that is what he expects of her. It is quite different with his parents and he knows it.

As for babies, the old routines can be re-established readily and the pampering forgotten. The very sight of the old crib, the paper on the wall, the usual sights and sounds of home-living and the baby goes back to acting as he did before he was launched on the vacation trip.

Our leaflet No. 71, "Early Discipline," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Good Support Bids Bring Home Bacon

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

This is the fifth of a series of articles on responses to opening forcing bids of two in a suit. I have taken this series from a chapter in Fred L. Karpin's revised edition of the Point-Count System of Bidding in Contract Bridge.

In today's article Mr. Karpin explains what to do when your partner has opened the auction with a two-bid in a suit, and you have the ace of one suit and the king of another. You bid the ace suit first, and then bid the king suit on your second response.

In today's hand, over South's two club opening, North correctly made a two spade response, showing the ace of spades. When South then rebid his clubs, North Lesson Hand—Neither vul.

South	West	North	East
2♣	Pass	2♠	Pass
3♠	Pass	5♦	Pass
6♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening Lead—♣ K

bid three diamonds, showing the king of that suit. South's bid of six clubs was right, as he was able to count 12 sure tricks. (North by the way, is known not to possess the king of clubs, for if he held this card in addition to the diamond king, his second response would have been four no trump, showing two kings).

If you have an ace of one suit, and the king of a suit bid by the opener, your first duty will be to show the ace. On your second response you will jump in the king suit (the "trump" suit). For example:

Opener	Responder
♠ Q J 10 9 7 5 3	♠ K 4
♥ 8	♥ A 9 8
♦ A K	♦ 9 7 5 3
♣ A K Q	♣ 8 6 4 2

Bidding:

2 ♠	3 ♥ (a)
3 ♠	5 ♣ (b)
6 ♠	Pass

(a) Showing the ace of hearts.
(b) The spade king (trumps) specifically.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Middle-Aged Love Stands Test of Time

DEAR MISS DIX: We firmly believe that what the older generation calls love is merely sex. Our elders try to convince us that the affection that binds for each other as man and wife is love, but we maintain that it is merely companionship.

We believe that the only true love which exists is the love a mother has for her children. Please give us your unprejudiced opinion as to whether love is or is not just sex.

TWO MODERNS.

ANSWER: Of course, the love of parents for their children is perhaps the most unselfish love in the world because, as a general thing, it gives all without asking return, and it forgives all and excuses all.

But love between lovers does not necessarily mean sex. Sex enters into it, but it is not the only thing, or a major thing for a mother to feel that her child is the answer to her prayers.

The love between a man and woman is even more a combination of mixed emotions. Undoubtedly sex plays a large part in it.

Probably the first thing that always draws a man and woman together is physical attraction, and sometimes this physical attraction is all there is to it.

Young people who think of love only in terms of fiery passion think the love of a middle-aged married couple is a dull and drab affair.

They see a man and a woman of growing old and stout and commonplace-looking, who make no outward display of their feelings toward each other, and the youngsters think that the fire is out on the altar.

They do not know that such a couple is still living in a romance whose colors have never faded, and that their love for each other compared to a boy's and girl's love is as wine to water.

The sex attraction they had for each other to begin with has grown into the spiritual and intellectual need that they have for each other.

And that, my children, is the love of the middle-aged that you seem. Heaven send it to you when your time comes.

WHY GROW OLD

Money Is Root of Evil Says Miss Lowman

By Josephine Lowman

Money does things to people! It often seems to bring out the best or the worst in them.

Those who were always snobs at heart, but never had anything ugly to "lord" when they met a wad of green-backs! On the other hand, those who longed for less pressure, and for some of the more enchanting experiences of life, but who could not afford them, benefit by more cash, and so do those they know.

You can have fun even when you are hard up, if you have a sense of humor and imagination and have your values straightened out. I imagine it could be a lot of fun to lose money if you spent it in imaginative and fundamental ways.

If money means keeping up with "The Joneses" or social prominence, a death to talent and personal verve, since it often does, than I cannot conceive of a more boring thing.

Once we lose our feeling for the great sweep of life and lose the human touch, once we are no longer able to enjoy the simple and real pleasures of daily living, I cannot see what is left.

I feel that I am in a position to speak freely, without fear that one group will say "She doesn't know what she is talking about" another yell "Sour grapes," because in the first struggling years of our marriage, my lovely engagement ring was in hock twice and once we had to sell the old car to pay the gas bill.

On the other hand, most people would think we have an adequate income today.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Individual Happiness" send a stamped, self-addressed enclosure with your request for leaflet No. 65, to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Inga Orbeck Becomes Bride Of H. Anderson

RYLEY, Nov. 2.—Parlor of the United Church at Camrose was the scene of a pretty wedding recently, when Inga Sophie Orbeck became the bride of Herbert James Anderson.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Orbeck, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Anderson, all of Ryley.

Rev. Willis Cann officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore an afternoon frock of navy sheer with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of deep red roses.

Flight blue crepe afternoon dress was chosen by the bride's only attendant, Miss Marion Davick. Black accessories and a corsage of talisman roses completed her costume.

James Nicholls was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the newly wedded couple at Camrose, where Mrs. Orbeck, mother of the bride, received in an ensemble of misty green crepe with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bridegroom, chose a black sheer frock with black accessories and wore red roses for her corsage.

After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will make their home at Camrose.

Tobe on Fashion —

Gold Jewelry Is the Basic Costume Jewelry Fashion

Several weeks ago, when I first started talking to you about fashion, I told you that gold jewelry is staging a fashion comeback because it is so right with casual clothes.

I meant plain gold jewelry at the time, but since then the fashion has snowballed and both plain and stone set gold are now the big costume jewelry fashion of the year.

Bracelets, especially those with smart novelty tags, and all sorts of link bracelets are really a "must".

So is a gold necklace—either a close fitting collar of flexible links or a short draped festoon of lacy gold that looks like a tiny bib. Even the snake-chain necklaces that were so popular a few years ago are having a revival.

Marion Elliott Pledges Vows

DAWSON CREEK, B.C., Nov. 4—Recent ceremony in St. Mark's Anglican Church united Marion Grace Elliott and Colin C. Hackworth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Elliott, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hackworth, all of Dawson Creek.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of satin and lace, styled with a bustle and train. Coronet of orange blossoms held her veil, and she carried red roses and white 'mums.

Doris Elliott was bridesmaid and Tom Hackworth was best man.

Y Visitor Here Soon

Visitor to the YWCA next week will be Miss Phyllis Haslam, personal secretary of National Council.

She is visiting western Y's to discuss standards, staff and policies and will arrive Tuesday, leaving for Calgary Thursday.

Miss Haslam wants to meet high school and University students who are interested in making Y work their life work. She will interview any who are thinking of secretarial work in the Y club room Wednesday at 4.30 p.m.

Board and staff members will gather at a luncheon Thursday to hear Miss Haslam speak of her work at headquarters and of how other Y's carry on their programs.

Before joining National staff Miss Haslam had wide experience in local work and for several years was general secretary in Trinidad.

Speaker Rampages On Liquor Problems

Dr. Whitton Gives Spirited Talk On Annual Spirit Consumption

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—(CP)—A Canadian welfare worker today summed up as "a pretty strong brew," the fact that Canadians annually consume one gallon of spirits to every two gallons of milk.

COUNCIL DISCUSSION

Dr. Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, told a mass meeting called by the Ontario provincial council of women to discuss the liquor problem, that for every man, women and child in Canada, the consumption of milk and cream annually is 44 gallons; of alcoholic beverages, 14 gallons, "or roughly one gallon of the latter to every two gallons of the former."

"That's a pretty strong brew," said Dr. Whitton in a speech prepared for delivery at the meeting in Massey Hall.

Dr. Whitton said the physical toll of alcohol could be charted in the undeniable statistics of clinics, hospitals and institutions for the physically and mentally handicapped, and its social costs, assessed in the travesties of these pressing years.

"Today, in North America, it is estimated that the incidence of alcohol addiction exceeds that of tuberculosis, cancer and polio combined."

INCOME COMPARISON

Comparison of the Canadian income and the money spent on alcoholic beverages showed that for every dollar each Canadian paid in direct taxation, he or she paid 75 or 80 cents for liquors. Or whereas direct taxes took seven per cent of the personal national income, alcoholic beverages took practically five per cent.

"We can't by taking thought out [illegible] add one cubit to our stature, but we can by enlightened and courageous action put an end to the liquor bill," said Dr. Whitton.

Last year the Dominion government spent $388,000,000 on welfare and expenditures on [illegible] amounts came to $184,000,000—A total of $572,000,000.

"We spent on alcoholic drinks $80,000,000 more than on every form of welfare paid by the Dominion and every obligation to our returned fighting men," said Dr. Whitton.

IODE Chapter Celebrates Anniversary

In celebration of the 14th anniversary of the Earl of St. Andrews Chapter, IODE, members met for supper Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. A. Johnston.

Affair was convened by Miss B. Jackson. Regent, Mrs. C. L. Mortor, presided at the meeting which followed.

Letters from Edmonton Members of Parliament, George Prudham and Fred Macdonald, were read. Both endorsed the chapter's resolution regarding stronger trade [illegible] and promised to bring correspondence to the attention of the Minister of Justice.

Mrs. S. Jensen reported on the successful party given by the chapter for 120 blind people on Hallowe'en.

Substantial contributions were collected by members for the Community Chest, according to Mrs. M. C. Warren.

Arrangements are being made, under convenership of Mrs. George Baxter, to send a collection of good used clothing to the British Save the Children fund. Two Christmas parcels are to be sent to British families. Contribution was made to refund to purchase shoes for Europ[illegible]

Park Playschool Enjoys Hallowe'en

Hallowe'en fun was enjoyed by tots attending King Edward Park playschool and their mothers at a recent party.

Miss Patricia McPeake, school supervisor, led 60 children in games and singing.

All Hallows Eve goodies were tucked away by the small fry as mothers joined in the fun.

Kay Garbe Is Bride In Recent Ceremony

Norwood United Church was decorated with chrysanthemums on a recent occasion when Rev. W. T. Young performed the marriage ceremony of Kathleen Mable Garbe and George Alexander Welsh.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliver Garbe and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Welsh, all of Edmonton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown in off-the-shoulder style with lace ... length veil in place and she carried a bouquet of red roses and baby 'mums.

TWO ATTENDANTS

Miss Jeanne Garbe and Miss Ruth Welsh were bridesmaids. They wore yellow and turquoise, respectively and carried muffs covered with pink carnations and roses and baby 'mums. On their heads, they wore coronets of baby 'mums.

Edmund Welsh was best man and James Sprague was usher.

Montague Bonner played the wedding music and Mrs. Ralph Clark was soloist.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs Garbe chose a green crepe dress with brown accessories and corsage of red roses.

BRIDEGROOM'S MOTHER

Mrs. Welsh was in a wine suit with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Reception followed the ceremony. Three-tier cake, flanked by white tapers and red roses centred the bride's table.

Miss Sadie Commins assisted and Gilbert Tucker of Edson proposed the bridal toast.

The couple left for a honeymoon to Banff and will live at Redwater. For travelling, the bride wore a grey flannel suit with accessories in navy and a muskrat coat.

Rev. Rogers To Officially Open Bazaar

Rev. C. E. Rogers will officially open the annual bazaar of Westminster United Church, which will be held in the Westmount Community Hall Nov. 23 from 3 to 5 p.m.

Guests will be received by Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. A. B. Fitsimons.

Serving will be Mrs. D. L. Anderson, Mrs H B. Curtis, Mrs H Shirray, Mrs. V. J. Sanders, Mrs R Symington and Mrs. R. L. Hardie.

Mrs. L. Domoney is tea convener, and is being assisted by Mrs. W. T Wood, Mrs. Calwell and Mrs. G Crosby.

Mrs. G. H. Ficht will have charge of the home-cooking table.

Others assisting with bazaar arrangements will be Mrs. J. Harvie, wool; Mrs. T. E. Guest, embroidery, Mrs. R. B. Dahl, aprons; Mrs. J. L Anderson, fish pond; Mrs. C. G Emslie, novelties.

Tables of candy will be looked after by Mrs. A. Beckwith and her explorer group. Evening Circle of the church will sell Christmas cards, seals and wrappers.

Recent Bride Is Honored at Showers

Before her recent marriage to George Welsh, the former Kay Garbe was honored at several showers.

Hostesses at miscellaneous showers included Mrs. Jack Williams, Mrs. Dave Alexander, Mrs Ed Welsh and Mrs. Bert Pringle.

On one occasion, Mrs. Norman Leeson and Miss June Dunbar entertained when miscellaneous gifts were presented to the guest of honor.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Cliff Sikstrom and Mrs. Nils Neilson while Mrs. Vera Olive entertained at a cup and saucer shower.

Mrs. Fred Garbe, Mrs. W. F Blades and Mrs. J. Armstrong entertained at a miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Welsh.

Teen-Agers Cavort On Jasper Saturday

Brand new Y-Teen members will suffer through initiation escapades on Jasper Avenue tomorrow.

Following the parade of costumed initiates a hard-time dance will be held in the YWCA gymnasium.

Y-Teens executive invites all teen agers to the initiation celebration dance. Fun will start at 8:30 p.m.

Canada in 1948 produced less than one per cent of the world's total oil output.

Bissell YP Plan Carnival

Penny carnival sponsored by the Bissell Young People's Union will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the gym of Bissell United Church, 96 street and 103A avenue.

Everyone is welcome at the annual affair, and fun is promised for young and old.

Proceeds will be in aid of Young People's work in the church.

The Dominion government's new $500,000 agricultural science research centre was officially opened in the fall of 1949 at Lethbridge Alberta.

Body Conditioning Keeps Body Svelte

Easy Exercises Preserve Slim Youthful Grace

A new and relaxing kind of body conditioning will help you slim your figure and carry yourself gracefully.

... tions.

Do these exercises slowly in easy rhythm; don't make a forced program of them—enjoy it. Once your shoulders and back have stretched away their tensions you'll begin to carry yourself better, your lungs will be freed for better breathing.

BALANCE AIDED

When your stomach muscles have become stronger you'll develop the foundation that helps you find your true balance.

In standing position with legs apart raise arms slowly shoulder high, lifting weight off stomach as you do so, hands limp. Bend over, resting hands lightly on slightly bent knees, midsection taut.

Flop from waist until fingers ... slowly, exhale gently. Tighten abdomen, rise slowly, head forward as you lift arms.

STOMACH STRENGTHENED

... Ease self down, arms and head loose, as back is gently stretched. ... straighten spine, arms and head still lose.

Lie flat on the floor. To strengthen midsection, bring knees to chest. Let back flatten completely. Rest. Lower feet, glide them along floor. Feel stomach muscles work as you lower legs.

To slim midsection, stretch out ... floor as chest expands gently. Now raise left knee slowly to touch outside of right elbow.

Return to full-length position. Relax. Repeat with right knee, left elbow. Feel pull in midriff area.

St. John Group Plans Sale and Tea

Sale of toys will be a special feature of a tea, sale of work and home-cooking, sponsored by the Edmonton Nursing Division No. 20, and the ... Division of the St. John Ambulance Brigade.

Event will be held at the St. John Ambulance Headquarters, 9843-108 street, tomorrow from 2.30 to 5 p.m.

Guests will be received by Miss Ada F. Toffey, Alberta provincial superintendent of the Nursing Division.

Pouring tea will be Mrs. H. Darling, Mrs. E. C. Emmott, Mrs. H. D. Hebb and Mrs. C. M McLeod.

Proceeds of the tea will be used to purchase ... and to carry on ... work for the veterans at government house.

Thrill of Faraway Places Is In Railway Stations

Dear Tawasi:

Have any of you club members ever thought that railway stations are fascinating places?

If you do then maybe you sometimes go down to the station just to walk through the rotunda, and watch the people coming and going for awhile.

For one thing, there are special noises you hear in railway stations. There's the muffled whistling of trains up above, and the sound of their shunting. There's the announcer's voice suddenly cutting in over an the other noises, calling out "Leaving on train two . . ."

And there's even a special station smell, too.

It could come from a combination of a great many things like luggage, or train smoke, or piles of old railway forms. But you never know, for sure.

Walking through a station when you're not going anywhere is fun, but it's a little bit saddening, too.

You go up to the big notice-board, where it says Arrivals and Departures. And there are the names of places all across Canada. They start with small towns on the prairies and end up with big cities like Montreal or Ottawa or Vancouver.

You think how you'd love to be catching a train for Montreal. Or you remember the big motor oil sign that flashes off and on up above the corner of Portage and Main in Winnipeg. Or perhaps it occurs to you that you've never been to Vancouver, and wouldn't it be thrilling to go.

Once in a long time, you even go up to information and inquire about the fare to Toronto, and what times the different trains leave for there. You know you're not really going. But, on the other hand, why shouldn't you? Maybe you will.

When you see people who are actually travelling, though, they seldom look excited. Their faces all have the same expressionless, slightly tired look. That's because you're almost in a state of suspended animation when you're travelling. You cease to be yourself when you get on a train, and then you suddenly come to life and start doing things again when you get off.

Railway stations make you think of the song "Faraway Places."

You imagine yourself leaving for a long time, but usually it's just a vague idea. But then some hurdy-gurdy you wake up, and you know that this time you're really going. And that's that.

2-Alarm Fire Levels Warehouse

MONTREAL, Nov. 4 (CP)—A two-alarm fire early last night levelled a two-storey warehouse and threatened three other buildings when it raced through the sprawling F. Tremblay Company lumber yards in adjoining park extension. G. Taillefer, a company foreman, suffered severe head and shoulder injuries when part of a brickwork on one side of the burning warehouse suddenly caved in and tumbled on him as he stood up a ladder.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

The Lady Mouse Teacher of Hollow Tree School and all the other pupils watched Buster Longears as he hopped to the door in answer to a knock that sounded suddenly.

"Who is it, Buster?" asked Miss Mouse.

"Three visitors," answered the rabbit scout.

Buster still held the door only partly open and Miss Mouse said: "Why don't you ask them in, Buster? It is always polite to ask visitors in when they come to our school."

"Well, Miss Mouse, these visitors are Foxie, Wolfie and Bobbie the bob cat. Maybe you wouldn't like them to come in."

"Oh, yes indeed I would, Buster. Don't you remember? Foxie, Wolfie and Bobbie the bob cat used to be wild, bad chaps. But now they are tame, good chaps so I think we should welcome them as visitors to our Hollow Tree School. Come in, gentlemen! Come in!"

"Thank you, Miss Mouse," said Foxie the fox as Buster stood aside and opened the door wider. "We shall be very happy to come to your pleasant school room."

"As you said, Miss Mouse," spoke Wolfie the wolf in his growling voice, "we are no longer wild bad chaps. We are tame and good."

"But we didn't come here today to be tame and good," mewed Bobbie the bob cat. "Did we, fellows? We didn't come here to be tame and good."

"Oh! Oh, dear me! I didn't know that! Miss Mouse was creeping to the telephone to call the police dog, but Bobbie mewed:

"Don't be afraid, Miss Mouse!" "I'm not I'm a little afraid of you three big animals." Miss Mouse crept nearer the telephone. "What do you want here in our school if you did not come here to be tame and good?"

"We came here," mewed Bobbie the bob cat, sitting down so that none of the boys nor girls would make fun of his silly little tail, "we came here to learn lessons."

"Learn — learn lessons?" Miss Mouse wasn't sure she had heard correctly. "Learn lessons?"

"Yes" spoke Wolfie the wolf. "Since we are now tame and good and no longer chase Uncle Wiggily, we need something to keep us busy. So, we decided to come to school."

"And we'll be good!" promised Bobbie the bob cat.

"I will see, Bobbie this time," said Miss Mouse, looking at the bob cat with his silly little tail. "Bobbie, if you had two saucers of milk and gave one to Wolfie, how many would you have left?"

Suddenly there sounded another knock on the door. Bunty looked from a side window.

"Oh! Oh!" exclaimed the orphan rabbit. I'll tell you why tomorrow if the cup will take the saucer swimming in the kitchen sink while the plate is giving the knife and fork their breakfast

Golden Spike No. 4 Near Test

By Don Flach

Answer at the Golden Spike No. 4 well should be known very shortly. After setting casing to the D2 the well has resumed drilling and is approaching the expected D3 level rapidly. Total depth of the hole reported this morning was 5,370 feet.

Site of the No. 4 well is higher above sea level than the No. 1 discovery well and consequently depth at which D3 contact is expected will be greater than the 5,362 feet at which contact was made in the discovery well.

OTHERS FAILED

The No. 4 well is about two-thirds of a mile northeast of the No. 1 well and has already met with encouraging shows in the D2. Two other wells drilled in the area, Nos. 3 and 4, about three and one-half miles northwest and northeast of the discovery well, respectively, both failed to find production.

Drillstem test of the High Crest No. 1 well at Campbell, immediately south of the Redwater Leaseholds completion was proceeding this morning in the neighborhood of the 3,700 feet level. Test is in the top of the lower Cretaceous formation.

Pacific Calahoo northwest of Edmonton has perforated the interval from 3,799 to 3,800 feet with six shots and will proceed to run drillstem test of this interval.

At Redwater Calvan 6-23 is acidizing with 500 gallons before running production tests.

Peace River natural gas test No. 8 at Dawson Creek is drilling ahead at 4,848 feet.

WILDCAT NEAR

Success of the Redwater Leaseholds-Leduc Calmar Stettler wildcat and the British Empire Development wildcat should be known within the net several days. Both wells are drilling in the same general area about eight miles northwest of the Gulf Ellis discovery well six miles south of Stettler.

The Leaseholds well is drilling at 5,061 feet and the British Empire well at 4,780 feet. Both wells are eported logging higher than Gulf success which may be interpreted as a favorable sign.

Pan Western well at the south end of the Leduc field is drilling at 2,980 feet. Well is northern offset of the successful Calmar West wells.

WHITEMUD AREA

In the Whitemud area, B and B Whitemud No. 1 is starting to core for the Lower Cretaceous at 3,500 feet. In the same vicinity, about six miles south of Edmonton, Em-Jay-South Brazeau is drilling at 2,053 feet.

Alberta Giant No. 1 on the east flank of the Redwater field is still coring at the top of the D3

At Pincher Creek, Gulf Fred Schrempp has plugged back from 12,653 to 12,602 feet at the top of the Madison and is having difficulty going in to jet perforate the casing at this level. An effort is being made to test for gas pressure and wet gas at this depth.

SOCONY WILDCAT

Socony Vacuum Exploration announced this morning the start of a wildcat in southern Alberta about six miles north of the international boundary. It is Socony North Branch No. 1 in LSD 13-3-2-19W4th between the north branch and south branch of the Milk River, and about 45 miles south southeast of Lethbridge. It was spudded Nov 1.

Socony's other wildcat, Verdant Valley No. 1 near Drumheller is at 4,485 feet.

At Leduc, BA Leduc Leaseholds Leduc No. 3 is swabbing at 5,193 feet; Home Anglo C and E Leduc No. 4 is at 355 feet; Home Anglo Woodbend No. 12 is at 5,070 feet; Woodbend No. 13 is at 4,423 feet.

Continental Leduc No. 17 is at 5,220 feet, No. 22 is drilling at 3,240 feet, Globe Leduc West No. 10 is preparing to core at 5,040 feet.

At Redwater, Gulf Shkolny No. 14 is swabbing at 3,305 feet. Shkolny No. 2 is moving in. Gulf Bigoray No. 3 is at 3,208 feet with produtcion string of casing set at 3,193 feet, Bigoray No. 6 is at 3,000 feet.

Dalhousie Western Redwater No. 8-10 is drilling at 3,270 feet.

ON B.C. COAST

Royalite has staked the location of its Queen Charlotte No. 1 well on the south-east corner of the Brit Alta permit on Graham Island.

Royalite Consort No. 1 is drilling at 4,310 feet; Superior-Joseph Lake No. 5 is testing but no report has yet been received. Gulf Aloisio No. 4 is at 2,525 feet; Gulf Ellis No. 6 is at 3,289 feet; Upton 6, 248 feet; Michel No. 4, 2,553 feet; BHS Willson No. 1 is at 7,637 feet.

Livestock

Edmonton, Nov 4—Total receipts: cattle 435, calves 122, hogs 1279 sheep 439

Trading on Friday's cattle market continued active under normal receipts. The general quality of the offerings was quite [illegible] with insufficient good butchers on hand to meet requirements. With local buyers displaying keen interest, salesmen will make a good week end clearance.

The bluk of good steers sold at a range from 17.50-18.50. Heifers were mostly from 15.00-16.00 with good lightweight from 16.50-17.00.

Cows were in demand, [illegible] lightweights trading from 12.00-13.50, and odd light heifery kinds topping 13.00. Bulls were unchanged, good bologna selling from 12.00-14.50, and odd fleshy heavies up to 15.00

Veal calves were unchanged trading from 14.00-18.00. Hogs were steady, grade A for shipment 28.00 at local plants 26.75

Lambs were unchangde, good to choice handyweights off trucks 18.00-19.00, off cars 19.00-20.00, and feeder lambs 14.00-18.00

Following are the quotations:

Base Metal Group Pushes Forward

Copper Acts As Stimulus; Atlantic Jumps To $1.20

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—(CP)—Base metals climbed steadily upwards on the Toronto Stock Exchange today following news of increased copper prices. Golds also brightened and a few western oils firmed. Industrials were about balanced in the quiet dealings. Volume was about 1,000,000 shares.

Demand was strong over a wide list of base metal stocks as the group continued recent advances. The price level of the list climbed to the highest of the year but [illegible] selling tended to pull the group down from peak levels.

Papers backed down in industrials and utilities also weakened although Bell Telephone, yesterday's heavy loser, moved on a firmer trend. Steels were higher and refining oils and foods stronger. Liquors, textiles and constructions showed small losses in the narrow board.

Senior golds gained and scattered junior producers showed advances ranging up to 15 cents.

Atlantic Oil climbed to a new high at $1.20 in a firmer western [illegible] before settling under profit-taking.

Rail Stocks Show Gains

NEW YORK, Nov 4—(AP)—Selected railway and utility stocks moved in front of a narrow stock market today.

Gains for favored issues ranged [illegible] around a point and in a few cases more.

The market generally see-sawed [illegible] without getting far one way or another. Advances and declines were well mixed.

Prices barely budged despite a [illegible] level of activity. Turnover hit a rate of around 1,500,000 shares [illegible] the full session.

Demand for rails developed for the second day running. This [illegible] has fallen behind the market [illegible] the long advance that [illegible]

United Again Heavy Trader

CALGARY, Nov. 4—Heavy trading in United as a result of lease interests in Excelsior strike [illegible] featured western oils on Calgary Exchange today. That issue showed a turnover of 30,500 at 12¾ to [illegible] for a net [illegible]

Jumping Pound also sold heavily, with 47,000 shares selling at 9 to [illegible]

[illegible] 34 as 16,700 shares changed hands. Superior closed one up at 42 in sales of 14,313.

Central Leduc added three at $1.30. Calmont finished at 52, climbing 10 cents over last previous sale. Atlantic gained 10 cents at $1.15.

Volume for the day was 185,907 shares.

CANADIAN DOLLAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(CP)—The Canadian dollar was down 1-16 of a cent at a discount of 9¾ per cent in terms of United States funds in mid-day foreign exchange dealings today. The pound sterling was unchanged at $2.80⅛.

July Wheat Slips Lower

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A small amount of export business helped sustain grain prices on the Board of Trade today. Dealings fell off from yesterday's rapid pace.

One weak spot in the grain market was July wheat. It sold off because of an estimate yesterday by an agriculture department official that support levels next year would be about 10 cents less than this year. Many traders felt it was still too early to estimate 1950 support prices.

Wheat closed ¾ lower to 1⅛ higher, corn was ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, oats were ⅜-½ higher, rye was ¾ to 1 cent lower, soybeans were unchanged to 1½ lower.

Closing quotes:

Wheat — Dec. 2.13-13¼, Mar 2.14¾-15, Mar 2.11¾, July 1.94¾-95.

Oats Futures Advance With Continued Dema'd

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4.—(CP)—Good commercial demand continued to contribute to modest advances in oats during active trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Barley and rye also scored gains.

Shippers and mills were on the buying side in oats, while liberal hedging sales were well absorbed. Demand in barley was less aggressive and offerings also were lighter. Processors as well as shippers were purchasers of this commodity. New seasonal highs were reached in the nearby months of oats and all contracts in barley.

Class two wheat prices advanced two cents from yesterday.

Southeast Asia Nervous Over Advancing China Reds

By Milton Marmor

SINGAPORE, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Southeast Asia looks north to Communist China with the sensation of a patient expecting the dentist to beckon "next!"

The presence of powerful Red forces near the northern borders of Indo-China and Burma long has been anticipated by those countries and by Thailand, Malaya and the fabled island of Indonesia.

Now China Red victories and the fall of Canton are a reality. The native Communist movements of Southeast Asia are believed to be [illegible] munities, by infiltration.

Western observers assume several [illegible] how the governments of independent Burma and Thailand and the fuseent United States of Indonesia may now reveal more cautious ways in the face of the crisis.

SINGAPORE QUIET

[illegible] Singapore, cornerstone for [illegible] lacks smouldering resentment against years of rule by white European powers. Observers in the other countries find it hard to differentiate between true nationalist fever and communism.

Many on-lookers think Indo-China is the key to the fate of southeast Asia. They say if the French and Bao Dai regime can hold Indo-China other lands can be held against communism.

In Malaya, British authorities have the situation in hand although there is some [illegible] Communist [illegible] Malaya, [illegible] Communist [illegible] Thailand, [illegible] Communist [illegible] Burma, [illegible] Communist [illegible] Indonesia, [illegible] Communist [illegible] Indo-China [illegible] Communist [illegible] China.

POLITICIAN REALLY RUNS OUT OF GAS

PRINCETON, B.C., Nov. 4—(CP)—Could be there's been an oversight in the $12,000,000 Hope-Princeton highway opened yesterday—no service stations.

Works Minister E. C. Carson, one of the men responsible for the road, noticed the error yesterday.

His car ran out of gas.

Doubled Subsidy On Coal Freight Asked In House

OTTAWA, Nov. 4—(CP)—The federal government should double its present contribution to assist [illegible] to [illegible] Johnston (SC—Mackenzie) told the commons last night.

The Calgary teacher called for increased aid to Alberta coal so that it could compete successfully for the central Canadian market.

Doubling the present subsidy would cost the government only $1,000,000 more annually, he said.

The Federal government contributes [illegible] coal freight charges. This could be doubled easily without too great a cost to the government.

The Federal government contri-

Snack Bar Manager Well Qualified for Job

Manager of Edmonton's newest milk bar, "The Milky Way," Austin Perry has a long record in the career of restauranting to his credit.

Even in his boyhood days entertaining to tastes of the public held his fancy. During Exhibition Week young Perry could be seen working in concession booths and serving the public.

In later years Alberta-born Perry chose a sales career in eastern Canada, but the call of restauranting wouldn't be denied.

Ten years ago he chose it as his career and has pursued it without regret.

With a man of his capability and experience as manager, backed by an efficiently trained staff and the latest facilities, the "Milky Way" is prepared to offer service unsurpassed in Edmonton.

The "Milky Way" is located at 10015-101 street.

Ont. Population

TORONTO, Nov. 4—(CP)—Premier Frost said yesterday that the population of Ontario is increasing at the rate of 10,000 a month, including immigration and births.

HYBRID HEN BIG PRODUCER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—The Wallace family of Iowa has developed a hybrid chicken which may revolutionize the poultry industry as Henry A. Wallace's hybrid corn did the corn industry, the Washington Post said last night. Wallace, former vice-president of the United States, spurred the family venture into the poultry field, the paper's farm reporter, John W. Hall, said. The resulting fowl, he added, may increase egg yields by 20 to 25 per cent.

The expected life span of the average one-year-old Canadian girl is now 68 years and of a one-year-old Canadian boy, 66 years.

Russ Use UN For Own Aims, Claim

LONDON, Nov. 4—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee accused Russia last night of using the United Nations veto to further imperialistic aims. In a speech at a UN rally in suburban Walthamstow, he charged that the Soviet Union and other eastern European Communist countries are anti-democratic and have frustrated the work of the UN.

Labor Asks Unions Defer Wage Rises

Definite Policy Is Unacceptable But 'Understanding' Is Sought

By Alan Harvey

LONDON, Nov. 4.— (CP)—A bold new "crisis" plan for organized labor appeared today to be doomed to failure.

Indications were that a number of powerful unions have turned down a national policy of suspending wage claims as long as Britain's economic crisis lasts.

The suggestion that all unions should get together on what would have been a really binding wage-freeze came from a special economic committee of the Trades Union Congress, representing 8,000,000 workers.

Ever since devaluation of the pound was announced last Sept. 18, the special committee has been hard at work trying to formulate a clear-cut national policy for the TUC's affiliated unions.

FORMULA IS INDEFINITE

Finally, it came up with the suggestion that all wage claims be abandoned voluntarily in return for certain concessions, such as increased pensions and changes in family allowances designed to prevent real hardships to breadwinners shut off from wage increases.

But the plan fell flat on its face. A general wage freeze would necessarily bear heavily upon some 2,000,000 workers now covered by sliding-scale wage contracts. These workers receive automatic increases every time the cost-of-living index goes up.

The TUC's general council met representatives of workers covered by sliding-scale contracts. It was understood that representatives refused to accept any policy which would mean forgoing automatic wage increases consequent upon the rise in living costs.

In an effort to work out some compromise the TUC's special committee will meet again next Monday. Its report is due to be submitted to the general council next Wednesday, and indications now are that it will be much less definite in character than the committee had originally hoped.

It will probably boil down to a vaguely couched appeal to the unions for "restraint" in wage demands.

Pair Breaks Jail At 'Hat

MEDICINE Hat, Alta., Nov. 4—(CP)—Two young men, listed by police as from Regina, made a bold break from police cells here last night, a few hours before they were to have been escorted to Regina to face charges of theft.

Ronald Christensen, 20, and Reginald Embree, alias Braker, removed bars from a cell window, pushed through a screen and fled without being seen.

R.C.M.P. discovered the break at 11:00 p.m.

W. P. PILKIE
. . . Shares Life With Silver Screen

Women, Children First in Theatre

By Ken Liddell
Provincial News Editor

VERMILION, Nov. 4.—With W. P. Pilkie it's women and children first.

But the young men who used to walk out during the newsreels during war years to have a smoke really annoyed him.

"There was a lot to be learned from those newsreels" said Mr. Pilkie. "I think it was 27 men who lost their lives filming them."

Along about now you've probably guessed that Mr. Pilkie runs a theatre in Vermilion—where he is also the mayor—but he is a theatre man for whom the sadness and joys of life are not only reflected from his silver screen but also in his approach toward life.

He offers widows a 25-cent admission rate, if they wish to take advantage of it, and he says the reduction is worth the pleasure it brings to some of the older people.

He does not particularly cater to children except on week-ends, when he presents complete family entertainment and makes sure of it.

FINED BY TEACHER

There is nothing to stop children attending suitable pictures during the week, but if they do they are fined a penny by their teacher and the money goes to the Red Cross.

With Mr. Pilkie it is a case of preferring the cinema to the counter of the general store.

He came with his family from Lindsay, Ont., in 1904, year before Vermilion townsite was settled. He and his father, the late P. G. Pilkie, who became a police magistrate and died in 1942 at age of 93, rafted 22,000 feet of lumber down the Saskatchewan from Edmonton to where Heinsburg now stands.

They built the first lumber building in Vermilion and operated the first store in the district but not in the town. That honor fell to the Stephens brothers.

After nine years in store business, Mr. Pilkie went into the theatre trade and has been in it for 36 years.

THREE IN NIGHT

During the First Great War Vermilion had three theatres. The features ran for 40 minutes and a fan could take in all three in one evening for 15 cents each.

In those days the operators got their films from Winnipeg, rented 1,000 feet at $1 a reel, or a total weekly cost of about $25.

Mr. Pilkie said first picture he ran was Charles Chaplin in A Dog's Life and "it was terrible".

Today he tries to stick to wholesome family entertainment because it pays better in the country. But country people like their first-class musicals, good comedy and something serious now and again.

He will run trailers for fire prevention, community efforts and the like without cost—gives the theatre to the Canadian Legion rent-free for memorial services—but shows no store advertising slides because he believes that is the field of the weekly newspapers.

LIKES MOVIES

District organizer for the Red Cross for 11 years, long-time councillor, school board member, but serving his first year as mayor, Mr. Pilkie is proud of his trade because he believes a theatre is one of the biggest assets of a good community.

Anyway, he never tires of going to the show.

Andrew Pioneer Dies

ANDREW, Nov. 4—Anton Rotter, a pioneer farmer, died at the age of 85 years. He leaves his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Katherine Ray of Princeton, B.C. and Mrs. Mary Cunliffe, and two sons, John and Alex, of Andrew.

Hatchery Planning Boost In Business

DRUMHELLER, Nov. 4—Brown's Electric Hatachery, the first large scale commercial chick hatchery to be established in this district, will increase production by at least a third this year, according to W. J. Brown, owner.

The firm, which recently acquired the "Y" Block, Mr. Brown pointed out, will install some new equipment and take advantage of increased floor space.

Alberta Farm Clubbers Total 5,000 Membership

IN OUR Province

VERMILION, Nov. 4.—Alberta has 5,500 members in junior farm clubs, R. Putnam, assistant deputy minister of agriculture, told Vermilion board of trade's annual farmers' banquet, attended by 97 persons, on Wednesday.

Mr. Putnam spoke in absence of Hon. David Ure, agricultural minister, who was unable to attend because of illness. J. R. Robson was chairman.

Mr. Putnam gave a resume of aims of his department to stamp out weeds and insect pests and to assist in checking the erosion of the soil.

Assistance in eliminating diseases among stock was already being given in this area.

SUPERVISOR NAMED

He announced that E. H. Buckingham, district agriculturist at Vermilion would supervise students travelling to Toronto to participate in junior judging competitions at the Toronto winter fair. He said the province had over 5,500 members in junior farm clubs.

The department had already started construction on buildings for the third school of agriculture at Fairview and that main building would be started in 1950.

He said winners in the master farmers' competition would be announced on Saturday.

Mr. Buckingham explained the contest sponsored by Mr. Ure. He introduced the eight contestants in the Vermilion zone, William Barr, E. W. Hart, James Mc Laughlin, F. Bowman, L. Robinson, H. Haun, F. Van Wogeningen and Percy Willes.

W. G. Urquhart, Mrs. W. R. Cornish and Miss Hareluck, judges for the Vermilion zone, had visited the farms and selected the first three as entitled to be placed before the final board of judges.

Principal N. N. Bentley of the Vermilion School of Agriculture, introduced Arden Windgrove, president of the students' union council, representing the students at the banquet.

Drumheller Gets Praise

DRUMHELLER, Nov. 4—C. P. Pal, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce and Agriculture, speaking before a joint dinner meeting of the Rotary club and the Drumheller board of trade, was lavish in his praise for the contributions made in mining and agriculture by the Drumheller valley.

Mr. Pal, a farmer of Castor, was introduced by N. F. Bell, district agriculturist.

The speaker paid a tribute to P. J. Rock for his contribution to agriculture as an exhibitor, stock-breeder and as chairman of the Drumheller district board of trade agriculture committee.

Mayor A. L. Bennett extended civic welcome to the guest. J. Kergan, president of the Drumheller Rotary club, and W. H. Acton, president of the board of trade, conducted the meeting.

Resolutions Framed

CHIPMAN, Nov. 4—Resolutions dealing with treasury branches, rural electrification and surface rights were passed at Vegreville constituency Social Credit association to be presented to the convention in Calgary. Hon. Lucien Maynard, attorney-general and Michael H. Ponich, M.L.A., addressed delegates.

Big Push Planned Ending Steel Strike

Fabricators Study New Formula Bethlehem and CIO Endorsed

By Richard L. Dugan

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 4.—(BUP)—CIO President Philip Murray indicated today that the "big push" for settlement of the 35-day-old steel strike will get under way next week.

Murray said it is "unlikely" that any new major agreements would be reached before next week, although half-a-dozen steel firms employing 172,000 workers have been studying the Bethlehem $100-a-month pension formula announced Monday.

U.S. STEEL SITS TIGHT

Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., which already has a pension, has been studying the terms since Tuesday. A Pittsburgh spokesman said the executives held a meeting last night, studying costs and "how it would fit into our picture."

Inland Steel Co. will meet with a union negotiating committee at Indiana Harbor, Ind., tomorrow. The company told its employes by letter that it has a better welfare plan than Bethlehem.

U.S. Steel Corp., heretofore the leader in granting the union's demands, apparently is sitting tight and waiting for the union to make a move. The company's executives and cost experts reportedly have been studying the Bethlehem settlement but have not liked what they found. One source—not connected with the company—estimated that the new formula would cost U.S. Steel approximately 18 cents an hour instead of the 10 cents recommended by the presidential fact finding board.

CAN'T AFFORD IT

Republic Steel, Cleveland, is in a similar position since it has had no pension such as Bethlehem. It has made no move toward resuming negotiations.

Other companies getting a look-see at the Bethlehem formula were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Colorado Fuel & Iron, and Great Lakes. No progress reports were made.

CIO-USW officials were elated with the Bethlehem settlement which provides a minimum $100 a month pension for a worker 65 years or older after 25 years of service. The six cents pension recommendation of the steel board is just a little more than half of the Bethlehem settlement.

The fact that the Bethlehem plan would cost companies more than the 8-and-4 recommended by the board may cause a serious hitch in settling strikes at some companies, especially the smaller producers who claimed that they could not even meet the board's recommendation.

Workers Begin Negotiations For Wage Increase

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4.—(CP)—Civic employees yesterday opened city-employee negotiations for their 1950 contract with a demand for a five-day, 40 hour work week and a wage increase to keep pace with the cost-of-living index.

The Federation of Civic Employes, representing some 2,400 workers, asked a boost of 25 cents per week for each point the index rose between January 1949 and January 1950. The city's 300 firemen are not included in the talks.

The draft agreement also suggested a six-cent-an-hour boost for tradesmen.

Civic employes now work an average 44-hour-week, including Saturday.

Likes Him, Loves Him, But Pays 2 To Kill Her Husband

By Henry Minard

PORT ORCHARD, Wash., Nov. 4.—(BUP)—A mystified husband whose pert young wife admitted hiring two men to murder him sought desperately today to raise $7,500 bail to get her back home.

But tiny, blue-eyed Mrs. Margaret Susan Platt, 31, was of a different frame of mind. "I feel swell here," she said from her county jail cell. "I just spent the most restful night I've had in 15 years."

The mother of two children is charged with attempted murder after confessing her plot to Prosecuting Attorney James Munro. In a signed statement she said her accomplices "welched" on her after she gave them more than $1,500.

ACCOMPLICES ARRESTED

The "killers," Hollis D. Scott, 29, and Wallace Mottern, 22, both of Bremerton, Wash., are charged with grand larceny by embezzlement. Scott, a former private detective, and Mottern, a navy veteran, were held under $5,500 bond each. Both insisted they had no intentions of carrying out the plot.

Mrs. Platt, dressed in a snug grey slack suit, said resignedly, "I guess it wasn't such a very good idea—it didn't work—but I decided it was the only way to get rid of him."

She said their wedded life was blissful until a few years ago when their happiness began to wear. She said he refused to grant her a divorce.

HE STILL LOVES HER

"Every night since we were married 15 years ago he had wanted to make love," she said. "I couldn't stand it. I tried to run away a year ago to my folks in Stockton, Calif., but he forced me to return."

The husband, Wilford Platt, 34, meanwhile, declared his undying love for his wife and hired an attorney to defend her. He begged deputies to let him swap places with his wife.

Completely baffled by the plot to murder him, he said: "I don't know why she would want to get rid of me. "I know Margaret didn't plan such an awful thing herself. She's not guilty. She's just a sweet little woman."

Scott claimed Mrs. Platt told him she had tried to kill her husband twice before—once with a poisoned drink and again by bludgeoning him while he was asleep. "He passed the drink by and woke up just before she could hit him," Scott said.

" I love her regardless," Platt said when he learned of the latest plot.

Mrs. Platt said she "liked" her husband too. She hared the whole conspiracy to him last Monday night.

BOTH GO TO POLICE

Mrs. Platt said Scott took an initial fee of $334 from her savings bonds and promised to find a "trigger man." He told her to have more money ready. She forged her husband's name to his title of a 1948 model automobile and arranged for a rendezvous with Scott.

Later, at a Bremerton tavern, Scott introduced Mottern to her. After Mottern stalled for more money, Scott and Mrs. Platt sold the car for $1,200. Later, when Scott failed to keep a rendezvous with her, Mrs. Platt went home and confessed the whole plan to her husband. The couple went to the police.

Scott was surprised by detectives in Bremerton preparing to leave town. He had $500 on his person; said he had spent another $300 in nightclubs, $200 on another car and $250 on "another woman" he planned to take to Reno, Nev.

Mottern said his only part in the plot was to "put on a good act" as the "killer."

Last night, Platt talked briefly by telephone to his wife from their home where he is staying with the children.

"Do you love me?" he asked.

"Yes, Wilford," she replied.

"Say that more convincingly, honey," he pleaded.

B.C. Gas Bylaw Ruled Defective

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4.—(BUP)—The British Columbia court of appeal has ruled that Vancouver's gas station closing bylaw is defective.

The court said today the bylaw was not good because it did not make provision for the public to buy gasoline 24 hours a day.

In its ruling the appeal court agrees with Judge J. Lennox and Magistrate Oscar Orr.

The court dismissed the city's appeal from the lower courts' decisions.

Nylon Plissé Dresses

It's Here! Exclusive With EATON'S Five Stunning Styles in Nylon Plisse. Needs No Ironing! Washes! Resists Creasing!

You can expect wonders from your first nylon dress! We checked extra carefully—the first to come to Edmonton! We spilled ink on samples of the fabric—sent them to our Research Bureau to find out the facts. And here's what we found—the nylon plisse in these dresses could be hand laundered or dry cleaned (the ink came out completely!)—it came out of the tub looking as fresh and lovely as new—no ironing was necessary and it's crease-resistant! So buy your first nylon dress confidently! You can pack it for travelling, sit in it all day at the office—and still look fresh and charming in it! And if you have to wash it in a hurry—it dries in almost no time!

Choose yours from the three fascinating misses' styles, or the two youthful styles for juniors. All from a dress house famous for up-to-the-minute styling, new details, fine finish! Colours of wine, brown, navy, green, grey, black. Sizes—Misses' 10 to 20, Juniors' 9 to 17. EACH,
